HUMBER TEACHER NAMED TOP RIDER

Elizabeth Ashton, Coordinator of Humber's Equine Studies Program, was recently named Horsewomen of the Year.

Elizabeth won the award over three other Olympic riders. About 4,000 votes were cast by members of the National Horse Council to decide the winner.

Miss Ashton was presented with the award at a reception at the Royal York Hotel.

Although she was a member of the 1976 Olympic team, three of her horses were injured. She was designated as an alternate rider but never got into the ring.

According to Horse Council President Jake Howard, "Elizabeth worked very hard as a groom and kept up morale and good spirits throughout the games in Montreal. She's not only a great rider but also a great person."

THREE OF FOUR FOR EQUINE STUDENTS

Second year students in Humber's Equine Studies Program took three of the top four spots at a recent Royal Winter Fair event.

Penny Gill placed second, Joanne Milton took third and Janet McCuaig finished fourth in the Equine Division. More than 100 students entered the student judging competition.

TOYS AID ONTARIO'S PROBLEM CHILDREN

Humber's 10th Anniversary celebrations will include the launching of an exciting new program called "The Travelling Toy Chest".

A $12,000 van, driven by Humber students and loaded with particular types of toys designed for developmentally handicapped children, will tour the province on a year-round basis.

It will act as both an educational tool for Humber's Life Cycle Studies Programs and as a means of reaching hundreds of children at home or in nurseries, especially those far removed from toy stores and in low income areas.

The project will be a two-year demonstration requiring about $50,000 for start-up and operation capital. More than $30,000 has already been raised. Contributions, which are deductible for income tax purposes, may be sent to: The Travelling Toy Chest, Humber College, P.O. Box 1900, Rexdale, Ontario M9W 5L7.

In Ontario, more than 80,000 children are mentally retarded or suffer from cerebral palsy.

HUMBER INSTRUCTOR PLACES 10TH IN WORLD COMPETITION

Virginia Lammers, an instructor in Humber's Equine Studies Program, recently placed 10th in the World Championship Quarterhorse Show.

The five-day event was held in Oklahoma City, Virginia, riding Coco Barlynn, was the only Canadian in the competition.

She has been teaching at Humber for five years and is Coordinator of Continuous Learning classes for Equine Studies Programs.

Virginia lives in Etobicoke and was originally from Burlington.

HUMBER STAFF SPEAK OUT!

QUESTION: What are your New Year's Resolutions?

"I don't have any New Year's resolutions because I never keep them. I've made some before but I never kept them."

Edie Johnston
Custodial
North Campus

"I must say that New Year's resolutions are a great idea. They help us to realize our own faults and shortcomings. But like the Christmas feeling of friendship and well-being for our fellow man, they seem to slip away by January 3rd. If we could create a 'resolution day' for each month of the year, I am sure we would all be much better off."

Joseph Amodeo
Information Services
North Campus

"I never make them! I don't think I need them. I never admit to any defects or shortcomings in my character!"

Gus King
Dean, Applied Arts & Business
Lakeshore I Campus

"I do not make specific New Year's resolutions, I just say to myself 'This year I'll do all the extra things I had hoped to do the past year'."

Margaret Antonides
Centre for Continuous Learning
North Campus

"I don't make any. It's not really a big thing with me."

Al Michalek
Music
North Campus

"I could be trite or flippant but I won't. My resolution is in essence a renewal of a constant in my life, and that is to work toward the enlightenment of our communities in an attempt to decrease the awful spectre of prejudice and discrimination. Vive la difference!"

PROFILE - SUSAN GEAR

A Humber College instructor has made a tapestry of one of the United States ultimate paintings - and she did it with a loom, spinning wheel and kitchen fork.

Susan Gear, a master craftsman whose medium encompasses weaving, spinning and macrame, teaches weaving at Humber's Lakeshore I Campus.

Mrs. Gear was commissioned in 1974 to design and make a tapestry depicting the famous American Revolutionary War painting "Spirit of '76". It is the same painting selected by the United States as the official symbol of its bi-centennial.

The six-foot by nine-foot tapestry, which contains roughly two million stitches, depicts several soldiers marching in the American Revolution. Sue worked on the tapestry for a year and her only guide was a 12 inch by 18 inch print of the original. Her only tool was a kitchen fork, a utensil she found worked better than anything else. In one row alone she had to contend with 65 color changes.

The tapestry hung in Abbott Hall in Marblehead, Massachusetts in 1975 in a room by itself opposite the original painting.

Mrs. Gear had to design the tapestry one stitch at a time recreating in wool all the expressions of human faces. She has calculated it took her eight hours to complete one and a half inches of the tapestry.

"Now that I have lived through the experience of making this tapestry," she said, "I hope someone doesn't ask me to do the Last Supper or the Fathers of Confederation".

Mrs. Gear, who lives in Oakville, purchased her first loom in 1958. Her education began at the New Brunswick School of Arts and Crafts. Since then, she has studied at the Canadian Guild of Crafts, the Philadelphia School of Science and Textile Design and and has attended sessions at the University of Massachusetts.

She is also the owner, operator and only employee of Fibre Design Limited. She is swamped with orders for such things as tapestries, religious weavings and wall hangings.

Her talents also encompass the arts of spinning and macrame. Over the years, Mrs. Gear has received some unusual commissions such as spinning dog hair into yarn for knitting and spinning and blending poodle hair with mohair and yarn for weaving. She has also instructed many courses in macrame and published her own book on the subject, "Lots of Knots".

Mrs. Gear has won many awards for weaving, two of her most coveted are from the eastern United States. One is a special award given at the New England Weavers Guild Seminar. She was the first Canadian to win this prize given every other year for the past 20 years.

Mrs. Gear is a member of 11 weaving guilds and is a master weaver of the Boston Guild of Handweaving - the highest accreditation that a weaver can attain in North America.

As one of some 200 weavers belonging to the Canadian Craftsmen Association, she finds her colorful work in demand across the country. She has made tapestries, Latin-American style ponchos and an antique cradle coverlet.

Mrs. Gear, who has taught at Humber for six years, will be teaching various weaving part-time courses on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, Monday and Wednesday evenings and Saturday mornings starting in January at Humber's Lakeshore I Campus.

Funeral program 'people-oriented'

By NICHOLAS PRON
Star staff writer

Suzanne Lajoie enrolled in Humber College's funeral services program because she wants to work with the living. The 18-year-old from Woodale near Woodbine says it is a common misconception that funeral directors only spend about 10 per cent of their time with the dead. "A funeral director only spends about 10 per cent of the work week embalming the dead," she says in an interview.

Humber's cup runneth over

Have students need space — that's the situation at the north campus of Humber College of Applied Arts and Technology. Student enrolment at the campus is in excess of 5,000, a much higher number than college officials had originally projected, according to Phil Karpetz, associate registrar. This is a 10 per cent increase over last year's student enrolment and it means the college is operating at capacity, says Karpetz.

HUMBER'S FIRST 10 YEARS

There were many memorable events during the first decade of Humber College. Students and staff from the Quo Vadis Campus demonstrated at North Campus in 1975 (photo at top left) when the decision was made to move the nursing program to Humber's Osler Campus. In 1972, a fire caused damage to the North Campus field house (photo at top right). Humber's first Board of Governors stand at entrance of initial campus - the James S. Bell Public School (photo at right). The McGuire Art Gallery had a short life at the North Campus before giving way to a Photography studio (photo below at left). Humber participated in the 125th Anniversary Celebrations of the Borough of Etobicoke in 1975. Plaque in photo below was presented to the College. Students pitched tents in North Campus Amphitheatre in 1974 when housing accommodations appeared limited.

Faculty, administration and support staff contributed $3,088 and the students $1,666 for a record total of $4,754.

PRESIDENT'S CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

"Whatever else be lost among the years,
Let us keep Christmas, its meaning never ends,
Whatever doubts assail us, or what fears,
Let us hold close this day ... remembering friends."

Jesus Christ whose birth is the focal point of a day important to all men, teaches that the ultimate in worth and dignity is a fellow human being.

At Christmas it is always exhilarating to be aware of the underlying warmth and goodwill that shines through among our colleagues and friends with whom we work here at Humber. The conflicts, irritations, differently perceived values and priorities, the "creative tensions" are diminished as we share in the basic human desire to love and be loved.

We affectionately remember in this 10th year those who are no longer with us and express to the ever-widening circle of the Humber family the warmest wishes for a happy Christmas.

HUMBER OPENS YORK- EGLINTON CENTRE

Humber College has found a headquarters for its Neighbourhood Learning Centres.

The College has acquired a building at 1660 Eglinton Avenue West in the Borough of York. It will be called the York-Eglinton Centre.

This Centre will provide badly needed learning facilities for part-time courses, conferences and seminars both in the daytime and evening. Program consultants from some Centre for Continuous Learning departments will also be located at the Centre.

It is intended that a wide variety of part-time educational and cultural opportunities be offered at the Centre. Meetings to discuss functional use and programming will shortly be called in which all academic divisions at the Lakeshore and North and the C.C.L. departments will be invited to participate.

Derwyn Shea, Director, Neighbourhood Learning Centres, will be located at the Centre and will be responsible for its administration.

Occupancy of this new facility will take place early in 1977 at which time the present storefront operation, Humber-York Centre, will be closed down and the activities transferred to the York-Eglinton Centre.

A STATEMENT FROM THE MINISTER

DR. HARRY PARROTT
Minister of Colleges and Universities

I wish to announce funding levels for 1977-78 in the Universities and Colleges of Applied Arts and Technology and also to announce an adjustment to fees.

With regard to funding the University system, I have accepted the advice of the Ontario Council on University Affairs. We will provide operating funds of $703 million in 1977-78, a $52 million increase over this year's projected expenditures of $651 million.

The Colleges will receive operating grants totalling $250 million, up from $230 million in the current year.

We believe the increased costs faced by Universities and Colleges should be borne in part by the students who use them and in part by the taxpayer. Consequently, we have suggested that Universities increase their tuition fees for a two-term academic year by $100. Tuition fees for a similar period in the Colleges of Applied Arts and Technology will be increased by $75.

This will be the first fee increase in five years.

Average academic fees in the Universities have been frozen at slightly less than $600 since 1972. The increase I am asking for in 1977 will result in an average annual increase over five years of 3.2 per cent. In the Colleges, fees have been fixed at $250 since 1972. New year's increase to $325 will mean an annual average increase over five years of 5.4 per cent.

These figures - 3.2 per cent for the Universities and 5.4 per cent for the Colleges - compare to an annual average increase in the consumer price index of 8.1 per cent.

Looking at it another way, fees currently make up 14.4 per cent of Universities' income from fees and grants, down from more than 17 per cent following the 1972 fee increase. The 1972 increase will result in tuition fees amounting to 16.1 per cent of this income.

This means that - even after the increase - University students will only be paying, on average, about 16 per cent of their educational costs. Taxpayers will continue to pay about 80 per cent, with the remainder coming from private sources.

Similarly, in the Colleges, fees were roughly 13 per cent of income in 1972 and they are about 10 per cent of income in the current year. After the increase next year, students will again be paying about 13 per cent of the costs of their education.

This increase in tuition fees does not change the government's commitment to ensure that students' access to post-secondary education is not limited by their financial circumstances.

As in the past, students who can't pay their full share of education costs may apply for financial assistance from the Ontario Student Assistance Program. Higher tuition fees will be taken directly into account in assessing these students' financial needs.

The assistance program's budget for grants provided by the province will be increased from $61 million in the current year to $74 million in 1977-78.

Currently students are required to borrow $1,000 before they can receive non-repayable funds from the province. I am pleased to confirm that this level of required borrowing will not have to be increased.

The fee increase is dictated by two obligations:

The obligation to maintain a responsible attitude towards public expenditures, and

The obligation to maintain the quality of the post-secondary system so that it will continue to meet the needs of the people of Ontario.

Since the province's financial situation does not permit us to meet necessary funding levels wholly from provincial revenues, we faced four alternatives: we could increase fees; we could force part of the system to close down; we could permit inadequate funding and risk an across-the-board decline in quality; or we could carve the necessary funds from the budget of some other essential provincial service.

In the circumstances, I believe the taxpayers of Ontario, the institutions and the students themselves are best served by the moderate fee increase we have proposed.

In conclusion, I will emphasize again that we intend, through the Ontario Student Assistance Program, to continue our firm policy that no deserving student will be denied for financial reasons a place in Ontario's Post-Secondary Educational System. I will meet with student council presidents in two weeks time to reassure them about this policy and to discuss any other concerns they may have.
