Excitement galore at Humber's CARIBBEAN CARNIVAL

Harry Edmunds, Director of Physical Resources will be undertaking the coordination and development of the 1974/79 Multi-Year Plan. The review and updating process for this plan will occur throughout the 1974 Fall Semester.

SIZEMORE ON CBC TELEVISION

Wesley Sizemore, English teacher in the Human Studies Division at Humber's North Campus, was interviewed on CBLFT (Toronto's French language station) on his reactions to President Ford's offer of conditional amnesty to draft evaders and deserters. The interview appeared during the station's evening news broadcast on September 18th. Mr. Sizemore, presently at work on a book about his experiences as a draft evader, stated in the interview that he was opposed to anything less than total and unconditional amnesty. "To accept conditional amnesty now," he said, "would compromise the stand I took and the decision I made six years ago. If not accepting these conditions means never being able to go home again, that's the way it will have to be."

LIBRARY

Humber's new Periodical Reading Room is now open in Room H223. This new area, which houses periodicals, microfilm and indexes, also provides some much-needed additional study space. The transfer of the periodical material from the main library has also allowed an increase in the study space available there, and some room for the rapidly growing collection. While the main library's hours remain

Mon. - Thurs. 8:30 a.m. - 9:00 p.m.
Fri. 8:30 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.

the Periodical Reading Room hours are

Mon. - Thurs. 9:00 a.m. - 8:30 p.m.
Fri. 9:00 a.m. - 4:45 p.m.

INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS CENTRE

Tony Hiscoke and IMC TV Producer Jay Phipps recently attended the fourth annual Canadian Educational Communications Conference in St. Catharines. Among the many seminars and workshops conducted was a study in the classification of Media Personnel, presented by Tony Hiscoke. The purpose of this workshop was to clarify some of the confusion surrounding the classification, certification and personnel ranking of those involved in media production and management across the nation. Other seminars that stimulated lively discussion and debate included such subjects as Microwave and Television Distribution, Kodak Super 8 Production, the Role of Private Production Companies in Educational Television and Copyright in the Educational Environment.

A full report on the conference is available in the College library.

For the third year, Humber College's IMC is co-operating with the management of the Canadian Education Showplace to present the Canadian Festival of Instructional Media at the CES, Coliseum, CNE, October 22-24th. Free registration cards for the showplace are available from Kim Kelly, IMC.

REGISTRAR

Each year the Colleges are required to submit to the Ministry two post-secondary enrollment reports, one as of 15 September, the other as of 15 October. The first of these is a preliminary survey by phone and is merely an overall figure. Humber's reports (including the Normal schools) last year and this are as follows:

September 15, 1974 -	4,896
September 15, 1973 -	4,528
Variation	+ 368

This represents a growth of 8% at this point in time however, last year we registered another 150 students after the September report and would need to do the same this year to maintain the 8%. It is to be expected that next count growth will be proportionally reflected in audited full time equivalents. Check the next edition of Humber Happenings for the October report.

IMC - HELP REQUIRED

Your assistance and co-operation is requested in the prompt return of borrowed equipment and film. Please return everything on time to avoid disappointing other staff and students who are waiting to use equipment and software.

CAREER PLANNING AND PLACEMENT (BUSINESS AND TECHNOLOGY)

Meetings have been held with Canada Manpower personnel and Humber College staff for additional placement services for our part-time and Retraining and Apprenticeship students through the use of a full-time Canada Manpower counsellor.

PRO DEV

This message is for all Support Staff (i.e. secretarial, clerical, maintenance, transportation) supervisors and administrators:

The Staff Development Committee of Pro Dev is currently planning a series of staff programs for the fall.

You can help them by responding to a Staff Development Internal Survey. Your responses will enable them to include topics which will relate to your specific interests.

If you require a copy of the questionnaire contact Mike Jones, Co-ordinator of Staff Development at extension 339.

ECONOMY COMES IN SURPRISING PACKAGES

..... it probably (in fact, did!) appear to some that a recent one-page flyer about a particular program was not in keeping with our economy efforts these days. It was printed on a very rich-looking, heavy brown paper, and looked costly. Well, the 1500 copies cost only $35.65 for our Print Shop to produce, including labour.

The real fact is that this was as cheap or cheaper than more ordinary paper, because the Print Shop buys leftover small quantities from paper mills at greatly reduced prices. This practice permits having a variety of good paper at ordinary prices, or lower, available for short-run jobs such as the example described.

Just thought you might like to know this. And we're glad a number of people were sufficiently interested in economy measures to raise the question.

PURCHASING SERVICES LIFE'S EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Recently, a certain tall individual in the office was shredding paper in a paper shredder. The task seemed to please him - perhaps it was an outlet for his frustrations. He was buying his first house. His lawyer called asking if he had received the necessary papers from the builder's lawyer and he had not. Panic began to change his facial expression and concern wrinkled his forehead - but another call came soon after and his mood changed to one of joy - the papers had been received and were being processed. Then another thought flashed through his mind - he remembered he was losing at hearts at lunch break, and whatever strategy he applied, it somehow did not seem to work. Perhaps it was a concerted effort by the three other fellows mustering their collective forces to end his five-day winning streak of the week previous. These thoughts and the problems of moving on Saturday and playing golf on Sunday in a Business Division Golf Tournament continued to flash intermittently through his mind breaking his concentration about the task he was presently doing. Suddenly a loud yell OH!!!! NO!!!! filled the office, everyone stopped work, and looked his way. There he was - tie half-way through the shredder - neck straining, back bent, feet braced against the desk, and a flush of red slowly rising from his neck to his forehead. A Royal Flush??

BUSINESS

The Centre for Continuing Studies in Employee Benefits held what is perhaps the most successful seminar ever. This occupied the week of September 9th to 13th and attracted 40 participants from all parts of the country, to consider the topic "Pension Plan Funding". Guest speakers included several Actuaries and Pension Consultants, the Superintendent of Pensions for the province of Ontario, Investment Counsellors and Fund Managers, all concerned with the problems of fund security and stability created by high inflation and monetary insecurity. Further seminars scheduled for October will deal with "The Communication of Employee Benefit Plans, including Pre-Retirement and Post-Retirement Counselling", "Executive Compensation" and "Health and Welfare Plans."

Members of Faculty interested in attending any of these seminars are invited to contact Jim Brodie at extension 307.

CREATIVE ARTS AND HUMAN STUDIES

GREG MERRAL, former Metal Arts student, has received an honorable mention in the "Diamonds Tomorrow" competition sponsored by DeBeers Diamond Corporation, a diamond conglomerate from South Africa. Greg is now teaching at Sheridan College.

GEORGE HAWKWN, teacher of Printmaking in Visual Arts, is one of 30 Ontario Printmakers who was awarded $1,000 by the Ontario Arts Council for his etching, one of 1,700 entries submitted to Editions 1, a printmaking competition sponsored by the Ontario Arts Council. Under terms of the competition, each artist has agreed to produce an edition of at least 25 prints, from which 10 will be given to the Arts Council for touring purposes. The prints will be sent to special exhibits and events in galleries, schools, libraries and public institutions such as hospitals. A color catalogue of the prints will be published by the Arts Council to promote public sales. Prices range from $35 to $135.

APPLIED ARTS

All students and staff in the Fashion Careers Program spent the second day of class in a full-day trip to significant fashion areas of Toronto. Socializing over lunch at the Spaghetti Factory was a great way to get to know new faces both for students and staff. At the Holt Renfrew Haute Couture showing at the Hyatt Regency, students and staff were joined by graduates of the program now working in the field. Staff attended the Creeds Saz Collection.

Humber's first and second year students in the Horsemanship Program attended the recent Jokers Hill Horse Trials in King. They were taken on a tour of the facilities and course.

RICHARD HOOK has written and had published "The Arborist", an occupational information monograph for the Guidance Centre, Faculty of Education, University of Toronto. The booklet is available in the College's Career Planning Library at the North Campus.

RANDA

JOHN DRAKE, President of the Randa Student Union, is usually fighting for some worthwhile cause; his most recent - Cystic Fibrosis. The Shinerama held on September 12th resulted in contributions of $8,220.28 and John says $1,000.00 was collected by Randa Division Students.

Jean McElroy, Coordinator of Steno programs spent her summer touring Brussels, Amsterdam and Switzerland and John Spence of our Accounting Department was in the British Isles.

Graham Collins is the Professional Development Coordinator for Randa. He was born in Australia and emigrated to Canada in 1968. Collins originally came to Humber from Niagara College in 1969 and left us for Centennial College in the Spring of '73 before returning to Humber.

Thanks to YOU ....it's working

THE QUIET LOUNGE

The Quiet Lounge, K216, is open for staff and students to use between 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. daily.

The Quiet Lounge is not normally available for group use on a restricted basis. However, any group wishing to use for an appropriate function should contact Harry Edwards, ext. 444 in Physical Resources for consideration on an individual basis.

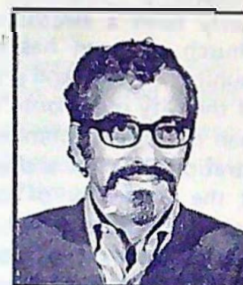

DO YOU KNOW THESE HUMBER PEOPLE?

PEOPLE

BLANCHE PHIPPS, formerly of Centre for Continuous Learning, gave birth to a 7-pound, 2-1/2 ounce son, D'Arcy Richard, on September 21st. Congratulations to Blanche and Jay, who works in IMC. . . . And ZANDRA FORBES-ROBERTS, wife of IAN, gave birth to a seven-pound daughter, Sara, also in September. . . . The Business Division welcomes CAROL McCANSE (formerly Carol Thompson), of the Personnel Relations Centre. Carol is now the Secretarial Technician in that area. . . . PAT FERGUSON and HELEN PORTNOY are newcomers to the Commercial Studies Program at the Queensway Campus. . . . SHIRLEY FITZPATRICK (Basic Academic), Randa, is leaving for the Northwest Territories and WOLF HAUSER has decided to leave the IMC Department at Queensway to take employment with Black's Audio Visual. . . . RON LEDUC of Randa's Commercial Studies will be absent from his division for several months working on his Master's Degree in Business Education at the University of North Dakota. . . . During August LYLE BEBENSEE and ED HANER of Randa followed the Trail of '98 (the Klondike Gold Rush) by hiking over the Chilkoot Trail. They covered a distance of 35 miles from Dyea, Alaska to Bennet Lake in the Yukon in a period of four days — going from rain forests on the coast to the barren treeless rocky summits still covered, in parts, with snow. . . .

RUSSELL GEDDES

PHILLIP STONE

RUSS GEDDES, Co-ordinator of Retail Floriculture, fell on a rock during a recent Flower Conference in Halifax. Russ is recovering from a fractured bone in his right leg. Please, no flowers!

PHIL STONE, Program Co-ordinator of Radio Broadcasting at Humber, was one of five members of the communications field in Canada selected to act as a judge for "Soundcraft '74", sponsored by the Radio Bureau of Canada. The contest is a national competition of radio commercials entered by stations from coast-to-coast. . . . The following were winners of Humber's Manipulators Invitational Golf Tournament last month at the Golf Haven Country Club: BOB CARDINALI, KELLY JENKINS, BOB HILTON and DAVE GUPTILL. . . . BEV ABBEY is the instructor in a Transactional Analysis At Work program open to all Humber staff on Wednesdays until December 4th from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. in Room E317. . . . JUDY McGONIGAL of the Centre for Continuous Learning will be leaving Humber this month. She will be moving with her family to St. John's, Newfoundland.

SOVIET CENTRAL ARMY BASKETBALL COACH AT HUMBER

Armenag Alajajian is the new coach of the men's basketball team at Humber College in Toronto.

The 44-year old former coach of the Soviet Central Army Team has only been in Canada three weeks.

Alajajian, 5 feet 8/12 inches and 176 pounds, was coach of the Soviet Central Army Team from 1969 to 1972. He coached four of the players on the Russian team which defeated the United States in the final at the 1972 Olympics and also coached some of the players on the team which won the World Championship in 1974.

"I understand that there are good players here in Canada, but they need good coaching", said Alajajian. "All I want are players who want to learn and play good basketball. Then I will train them to play well and win."

Humber competes in the Ontario Colleges Athletic Association consisting of 25 teams from 22 colleges.

During the 1973/74 season, Alajajian was head coach of the basketball school in Moscow and, last year, a high school in Tashkent was named after him.

Alajajian was born in Alexandria, Egypt and at 17 years of age moved to the Soviet Union. He received his Bachelor of Arts in Physical Culture from Erevan State University in 1951 and was an instructor in Physical Education at the University until 1953.

Humber's new coach was a member of the Soviet National Team in 1953-1954, 1958, 1961 and 1963-1966. During his coaching years, Alajajian led the Russians to the Cup of Europe Championship in 1969 and 1971.

He also played on the European Championship teams from 1953-1961 and 1963-1965. In 1964, Alajajian was a member of the silver medal team at the Tokyo Olympics and three times won the Most Valuable Player award in the USSR.

As well as coaching, Alajajian has enrolled in a "Learning English" program at Humber's Keele campus.

"In order to teach basketball, I must first learn how to speak English well," he said.

Alajajian will be living in Scarborough, a Toronto suburb with his wife and their two children, Karen, 16 and Arthur, 14.

Practises are already underway in preparation for Humber's opening league game on Wednesday, November 14, at George Brown College.

The first home game is Thursday, November 14, against Centennial.

DID YOU KNOW?

Awards Night for Humber College will be held on the nights of October 30th and 31st. . . . At a recent meeting of the Applied Arts Division, field trips were outlined involving students of Law Enforcement to Ottawa, Recreation Leadership to Flint, Michigan and Travel and Tourism to Freeport. . . . Humber's Equine Centre was host to the Ontario Appaloosa Horse Association 1974 Breeders Futurity held on September 22nd. . . . The Randa Division has open house visiting days on the second Wednesday of each month. Keep these dates in mind: October 9, 1974, November 13, 1974, December 11, 1974, January 8, 1975, February 12, 1975, March 12, 1975, April 9, 1975, May 14, 1975 and June 11, 1975. . . . TONY HISCOKE, Chairman, IMC, was recently elected as a Member of the Executive of the Association for Media and Technology in Education in Canada (AMTEC). This Association is the result of an amalgamation of several previously existing organizations, among them the Educational TV and Radio Association of Canada (ERTAC), the Educational Media Association of Canada (EMAC), and the Canadian Educational Media Council (CEMC). . . . More than 100 Humber students were turned away from the first pub of the year. Many of them had been waiting for more than an hour, but doormen said there was no room. . . . MARY McCARTHY, Financial Aids Officer at Humber, says more than 100 student loans have still not been picked up. . . . BARRIE SAXTON, Co-ordinator of Law Enforcement at Humber, was recently invited on a helicopter tour of Toronto by one of his students. While returning to Buttonville Airport after the tour, their helicopter was caught in a downdraft, dropped 40 feet into a ravine and rolled three times. Saxton was pinned while his student was thrown free. Both were later taken to hospital, treated for minor injuries and released. . . . Five males are among the 152 new students at Humber's Osler Nursing Campus this fall. . . . Humber pays $50 municipal tax for each full-time student that is registered. The money is then turned over to the Ontario Government. . . .

WHAT'S UP AROUND CAMPUSES?

Applications for enrolment at the University of Toronto have increased this year by 50 per cent, says admission director Wim Kent according to a recent story in THE VARSITY. The story went on to say that Erindale College may experience a student shortage. . . . Seventy students who registered in a previously announced nursing program at Champlain College in Quebec have been told that the program will not be offered. The LOYOLA NEWS of Concordia University says that the reason for the program's cancellation is that a co-ordinator was found unacceptable by the Order of Nurses of Quebec, whose sanction is required for any course in nursing given in Quebec. . . . The new President of Ryerson Polytechnical Institute says that his biggest challenge will be to secure the trust and confidence of the entire Ryerson community. Walter Pitman, former Dean at Trent University in Peterborough, was quoted in a story in THE RYERSONIAN. Meanwhile the school's radio station, CFRM, is embarking on a campaign to extend listening hours and increase its audience by linking up with Rogers Cable. . . . The Provincial Minister of Colleges and Universities, James Auld, was quoted in a recent edition of THE VARSITY as saying there will be no tuition fee increase for Ontario students for at least another year.

VISITOR TO HUMBER FROM ZAMBIA

ZAKEOSH ZIKABUBBA is Principal of the Livingston Training Institute in Zambia.

Mr. Zikabubba is on a six-month study tour of vocational and technical Colleges in Ontario.

He will be observing how Humber's Retraining and Apprenticeship Programs work over the next five weeks.

WOMEN'S BUSINESS ORGANIZATION ESTABLISHED AT HUMBER COLLEGE

An educational/social organization to help female students find more rewarding employment when they graduate has been established at Humber College.

Called the Humber Women's Organization (H.W.O.) and open to all College students, the first meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, November 5 at 5:30 p.m. in the Seventh Semester with Kay Sigurjonsson, well-known Canadian broadcaster as guest speaker.

The Humber Women's Organization was founded by six female students, assisted by a group of staff advisors and members of the Toronto Business and Professional Women's Club.

Meetings will be held twice a month. Each meeting will feature a successful female member of the business community who will share some of her experiences on being a woman in a male-dominated environment.

RADIO WOMEN GO BACK TO SCHOOL

Susan Ferrier, 24 and Linda Mackay, 25, both members of the Radio Women group, have become full-time students in Humber College's Radio Broadcasting course.

The two are part of a circle of women who hope to have an all-female FM station on air in Toronto next week.

"We are giving them a one-year crash course in the major areas of radio," said Phil Stone, veteran broadcaster who created and supervises the course, the only total radio course in a post-secondary Canadian college or university.

"Both the women are exceedingly bright," said Stone, whose course normally runs three years, "and we are finding them particularly adept in the area of production, writing and air work."

Stone said that the course, which got underway in early 1972, had already placed seven women in radio broadcasting out of a possible ten enrolled over that period.

"One," he reported, "wasn't happy with what was available, and the other two have refused job offers in favor of staying with us until they get their diploma. We have also placed 28 males but the point is that there is opportunity for bright, creative women in radio."

Workshop on Divorce and Separation

An all-day workshop to consider the challenges of separation and divorces in today's society.

Speakers, panels and workshops will examine the legal problems, the needs of children, financial and property decisions and rebuilding lives after family breakdown.

FUTURISM

AN ALTERNATIVE TO THE CRYSTAL BALL

November 6 - 7, 1974

HUMBER COLLEGE OF APPLIED ARTS AND TECHNOLOGY

FUTURISM - a process of thinking and planning future events, based on techniques which use the best information currently available.

The futurist must often, when concerned with very long range predictions, rely on pure guesswork. However, even guesswork, through a number of special techniques, can be treated in a systematic and rational fashion.

Futurism provides an approach to the classic problem faced by today's decision makers. From among a variety of possible alternatives we have to select those most likely to help us achieve our objectives. This necessitates further decisions related to the impact of future technological innovations. Like life, a chancy affair at best. But planners working with futuristic techniques can increase the probability of achieving desired results.

Another important approach of futurism is the study of the relationships of technological developments on social values.

This seminar will provide participants with techniques for reviewing in advance, all future decisions and resulting implications from both a practical and value oriented point of view.

November 6 - 7, 1974
9:00 A.M. - 4:00 P.M. Both Days

SEMINAR LEADER

Dr. Ben Dowd

- Ph.D. in Educational Administration
- Director of Planning in the Governor's Office of Educational Research and Planning - Austin, Texas
- Former Professor of Educational Administration, George Peabody College - Nashville, Tennessee

SEMINAR PROGRAM

"A General Talk On Forecasting"

Its purposes, limitations and assessments of different techniques.

"Short-Term Forecasting, Or A Funny Thing Happened At The Track"

The application of regression analysis to identify valid predictors of futuristic outcomes.

"Bayesian Statistics Or How To Correct Yesterday's Predictions"

A goal setting or a marketing device.

"Cross-Impact Matrix And Force Field Futurism" (Lewin)

Forecasting an upcoming political or economic goal.

"The Delphi Method"

Pioneered by the Rand Corporation, the Delphi Method systematizes and rationalizes predictions about the far-out future. Consensus or convergence of expert opinion is the result.

During the Seminar there will be many opportunities for discussion and practical experience in the various techniques. Background and experience and special interest of the participants will be used to orientate the direction of the presentations.
