HUMBER COLLEGE PARTICIPATES IN 1976 OLYMPICS FOR PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED

Humber College has announced it will be one of the hosts for the 1976 Olympiad for the Physically Disabled scheduled for next summer in the Toronto Borough of Etobicoke.

The announcement follows a series of meetings held by Dick Loiselle, Executive Director of the 1976 World Olympiad and administrative officials at Humber and calls for the College to assist in the areas of accommodation, transportation and the provision of volunteer workers.

"We will have a minimum of 200 single bedrooms available for officials at our Osler Campus and have arranged for bus transportation to and from events," said David Grossman, Humber's Director of College Relations. "An announcement will also be made within the next little while to faculty, staff and students of Humber College inviting those wishing to volunteer their services in organizing events, tours, etc., for any part of the Games to get in touch with Olympic officials."

The Olympiad for the Physically Disabled is held every four years in the country hosting the World Olympics. More than 1,200 disabled athletes from 60 countries will be competing in the 1976 Games scheduled for August 3rd to the 11th at Etobicoke's Centennial Park.

"These Games are usually a once in a lifetime event for a country and we at Humber are most honoured to have been invited to participate in the 1976 Olympiad for the Physically Disabled," said Gordon Wrapp, President of Humber College.

HOSTESSES NEEDED FOR OLYMPICS

Two hundred hostesses are needed for the 1976 Olympics for the Physically Disabled to be held in Etobicoke's Centennial Park next August.

To date, there are 61 countries entered from Europe, Africa, Asia, the Middle East, Central, South and North America.

The games will take place from August 3 to 11 (after the Olympics in Montreal) but hostesses will be needed from July 31 to August 14.

"The hostesses must be able to speak languages other than English," said Nancy Forslund, a member of the Committee for Hostesses for the Olympiad. "The minimum time we'll need them is one week and uniforms, purses, meals, accommodation, and entrance to the Games will be provided free in appreciation of the volunteer work."

At least one hostess will be assigned to each team and others will be needed to assist government representatives and sports officials. There will also be such chores as helping in transportation for sightseeing, shopping and visits to rehabilitation centres.

Since Humber College will be one of the places hosting the Games, officials for the Olympiad feel Humber can supply them with a large number of interested volunteer workers.

Positions are available for female full and part-time students, faculty and staff between the ages of 18 and 40.

All applicants will be acknowledged and interviewed in February.

Applications and further information on the Games are available from David Grossman, Director of College Relations at extension 554.

Best wishes for a very merry Christmas and a happy and healthy New Year from the entire staff of Humber Happenings

BUSY DAYS FOR STUDENTS AND FACULTY IN CREATIVE ARTS

Humber cinematography instructor Tom Gregor attended the Children's Broadcasting Conference in Ottawa.

Ron Collier, instructor in the Music Program, conducted the all star jazz stage band - 1975 Canadian Jazz Champions - in an excellent Sunday concert before a crowded foyer at the Scarborough Civic Centre in November.

Bill Roddy, a Ceramic instructor, attended the Ninth Annual Super Mud Conference at Niagara Falls, N.Y. in October.

Roddy's students - Jani Hobin, Robin Brown, Debi May and Joseph DiCarlo - were mentioned in the Second National Travelling Student Ceramics and Glass Exhibitions.

Richard Dawson, a student in Humber's Cinematography Program, is making a film titled "Nature Theme - Ducks and Sanctuaries" which is currently in the post-production stage.

STUDENT PLAY TO TOUR HIGH SCHOOLS

Humber College Theatre students are forming a Theatre-in-Education Team, to tour Toronto and Ottawa high schools in January.

The team will present Snap Out Of It, a play designed to convey the emotions and characteristics of mental illness, through a combination of comedy spoofs and audience participation.

The first half is a simulation of mental illness, the audience conceptions about the mentally ill, such as anti-depression pills and punishment for bad behaviour.

The second half is a simulation of mental illness, the audience is blindfolded and asked to stand and move about, help each other, or avoid each other.

Poems, case histories and statistics are read while the student audience grope for a place to sit on the floor.

ETOBICOKE FIRMS SHOULD CLEAN UP SAY HUMBER STUDENTS

Employers in Etobicoke don't care enough about their employees - if they did, more would beautify the exterior of their buildings and make people happy to come to work.

That's one of the conclusions of 42 students from Humber College who recently went out to photograph industrial and commercial establishments in the borough to determine which are deserving of environmental awards of merit.

The project was part of Environmental Control Week in Etobicoke. The students were from the Interior Design and Landscape Technology Programs.

One student said the planting of a few evergreens or a new paint job can go a long way towards improving the attitude of workers.

Buildings which passed the student's beauty test were the Hydro building and the Civic Centre. But the Education Centre was judged too awesome because it wasn't landscaped too well.

The students found it very difficult to find commercial sites worthy of merit awards. They claimed plazas lacked coordination in their design or were cluttered up with signs.

NEW RADIO SHOW TO SUPPORT ARTS IN ONTARIO

A weekly radio program, designed to foster and encourage the arts in Ontario, started in October on more than 25 AM and FM radio stations throughout Ontario.

Presented in co-operation with the Ontario Arts Council, the 15-minute program was conceived by veteran broadcaster Phil Stone, Coordinator of the Radio Broadcasting Program at Humber College, who will direct and host the interview show, covering such topics as dance, music, theatre, art, literature and opera.

"We were very excited about Phil's idea," said Frank McEachren, Chairman of the Ontario Arts Council, "when he brought it to us. The program touches all facets of the arts throughout the province, and will promote the efforts of those seeking to develop the arts, while at the same time, bring news and information about the active arts scene in Ontario."

"The discussions and interviews," said Ontario Arts Council Executive Director, Louis Applebaum, "are with creative artists and performers. From time to time, Stone will travel to various parts of the province to talk with people."

Applebaum said that, "The stations who plan to carry the program range from Windsor to Cornwall to Thunder Bay."

Mr. McEachren described Phil Stone as being "uniquely suited to the program as a broadcaster with outstanding credentials in the field of writing and interviewing as well as having served on the boards of such groups as the Art Gallery of Ontario, National Ballet, Canadian Opera Company, Canadian Opera Guild, Dominion Drama Festival and Canadian Players, among others."

RADIO INDUSTRY LECTURES TO STUDENTS IN HUMBER'S RADIO BROADCASTING PROGRAM

Some of the top people in the radio industry have been guest lecturers to students in the Radio Broadcasting Program at Humber College since the course started.

The Canadian radio industry has approved this unique three-year program at Humber and many graduates have been given employment opportunities on a full and part-time basis throughout Canada.

Names of some of the guest lecturers for the Fall semester were Peter Meggs, National Program Director of CBC Radio; Scott Cameron, Sales Manager, CKTB Radio - St. Catharines; Charles Fenton, Vice President, Mutuel Communications; Carl Redhead, Station Manager, CHIN Radio, Toronto and Chuck Camroux, Station Manager, CFTR Radio, Toronto.

The Radio Broadcasting Program at Humber is designed to turn out professionals, well-qualified to handle all facets of a radio station.

NEW COORDINATOR FOR TRAVEL PROGRAM

Stuart Jones, formerly of Corner Brook, Newfoundland, has been appointed Coordinator of the two-year Travel and Tourism Program which has the largest full-time student enrolment at Humber College.

Jones has held a variety of positions with Air France, in Toronto and Montreal, during the past 16 years. He was also on the part-time faculty at Humber last year.

Hans Grote has also joined the staff and will be responsible for the instruction of tariff and ticketing in the Program. Grote comes to Humber after 25 years with British Airways and Air Canada.

CANADIANS ARE OVERWEIGHT

Doctor Zak Sabry told an audience at Humber College last month that almost two million Canadians are overweight and over two million others have high blood pressure.

He was one of the speakers during a program put together by students in Humber's Family and Consumer Studies course to mark Provincial Nutrition Week.

Home economist Ruth Fremes, another speaker, said that nutritional cereals aren't selling because people claim it takes too long to chew them.

She also said as food costs rise, any nutritional buying will be crunched under for cheaper and more convenient food.

HOW IS YOUR LOVE LIFE?

Umesh Kothare, Humber's Director of Counselling, said recently that bio-feedback might be able to increase a man's sexual powers.

"But you may have after effects because your body is being corrected and it must adjust to this," said Kothare, who uses bio-feedback training and research. "It's better though than drugs and medication."

Bio-feedback involves devices that use electrodes attached to either the person's fingers or forehead and registers the degree of anxiety or relaxation by emitting a whine that the person learns to control. Developed in California in the early 1960's, the machines range in price from $50 to $300.

Kothare said he knew of cases in the United States where sexual problems such as psychological impotence were resolved.

"It's all a question of conditioning," he said.

In Toronto, bio-feedback therapy is used on a limited basis to treat migraine and tension headaches at clinics in the Toronto General and Wellesley Hospitals.

Kothare said he's been using bio-feedback at Humber to help students quit smoking and overcome examination anxieties. Success rate is around 85 per cent and he's never had to give more than ten 30-minute sessions per person, he said.

HUMBER ARBORETUM SITE OF ETOBICOKE MEMORIAL

Etobicoke commemorated its 125th birthday by planting a grove of 125 trees at the Humber College Arboretum last month.

The ceremonies involved representatives and students from all public, secondary and separate schools in Etobicoke planting a tree.

"The anniversary committee asked us if this kind of function could take place in the Arboretum," said Rick Hook, acting Dean of the Applied Arts Division. Hook is also one of the College representatives on a committee involved in the future planning of the Arboretum and Valley land.

"We weren't enthused with the idea of a granite statue as a memorial because we wanted something to grow with the community," said Jim Gunn, coordinator for the Etobicoke anniversary committee.

"The people living in the Borough today will remember it and who knows, in 50 years some little old man may say to his grandchild, 'I planted that tree!'"

FLOWER SHOP OPENS AT HUMBER

The former Travel and Tourism boutique at the North Campus has now been turned into a flower shop.

Russell Geddes, Coordinator of the Retail Floriculture Program, said the flower shop will sell products made by students in the Program as well as material grown in the College.

Examples of some of the items on sale are assorted green plants, dish gardens, terrariums, chrysanthemum plants, door swags, wreaths, and poinsetta plants.

A special selection of corsages, table centres and assorted novelties will go on sale in December for the Christmas season.

The flower shop is open from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m., Monday to Friday, and is located in Concourse II at the North Campus, next to the Box 1900 Fashion Boutique.

FIVE TIMES A YEAR

Humber Happenings now publishes five times a year.

The College magazine, available to full-time faculty and staff at all campuses, will have editions printed in Winter (February), Spring (April), Summer (June), Fall (September) and Christmas (December).

All contributions should be submitted through Divisional Contributing Reporters to the Director of College Relations no later than the 11th day of the month preceding publication date.

FARQUHAR LEAVES HUMBER AFTER EIGHT YEARS

William Farquhar completes his second four-year term this month as a member of the Board of Governors of Humber College.

Farquhar, a resident of Etobicoke, is the labour representative to the Board. He is the financial secretary of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

PROVINCIAL POLITICIAN TO SPEAK AT HUMBER

The Provincial Member of Parliament for York South will be the guest speaker at the January meeting of the President's Book Club.

Donald MacDonald, former leader of the New Democratic Party, will speak on his book "Government and Politics in Ontario." The book is available in the Bookstore at Humber College.

MacDonald is currently chairman of the Energy Committee of the Provincial Legislature to investigate the proposed rate increase by Ontario Hydro.

MacDonald, an MPP for 25 years, will speak in the Lecture Theatre at the North Campus on Wednesday, January 28th between 6:00 pm and 7:00 pm.

For more information on the President's Book Club, call Frank Willock in Pro Dev. at extension 430.

MALONEY EXPLAINS ROLE OF OMBUDSMAN TO HUMBER LAKESHORE COMMUNITY

Arthur Maloney, Ontario's Ombudsman, spoke to a large crowd early in December in the auditorium of Humber's Lakeshore I Campus.

The event was sponsored by Storefront Humber which was part of Humber College from 1971 to 1973.

"Maloney spoke on his role as Ombudsman and how it relates to the Lakeshore community," said Tony Flynn, a community worker for Storefront Humber.

The Storefront provides secretarial services for ratepayers' groups, assists residents in making presentations to Etobicoke Council and booking tours for senior citizens. It also produces a newsletter.

"We still have a close relationship with Humber College," said Flynn. "We have access to some of their resources and do a lot of work in cooperation with the Centre for Continuous Learning."

MINISTRY OFFICIAL RETIRES

Humber College had a farewell dinner recently for Herb Jackson who retired after 12 years as Director of the College Affairs Branch for the Ministry of Colleges and Universities.

Jackson served in the Ministry's College Affairs Branch since it was formed in 1963 and prior to that electronics for some 20 years.

He also trained enlisted men in the Canadian Armed Forces stationed in England in the use of radar and later returned to Toronto to assist in the training and rehabilitating of war veterans. The rehabilitation centre became Ryerson Polytechnical Institute.

The event was sponsored by the College Affairs Branch of the Ministry of Colleges and Universities. More than 300 people attended.

ST. VINCENT PREMIER VISITS HUMBER

The Premier of the Island of St. Vincent recently visited Canada on official business.

Milton Cato also took time from his busy schedule to visit with Gordon Wragg, President of Humber, and some of the students studying at Humber who are from St. Vincent.

HUMBER COLLEGE'S
10TH ANNIVERSARY
IT'S NEXT YEAR!

Staff speak out!

QUESTION: DO YOU HAVE ANY NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS?

The present contract has established a beginning of co-management in the colleges.

I hope to see this expanded in 1976 so that faculty will have a real voice in determining the College's and their future. Maybe 1976 will bring us - and maybe we can be the leaders here at Humber - a new approach to a fresh outlook on our antiquated, and obviously malfunctioning "labour" relations.

Rudie Jansen
President
Humber Branch
Ontario Public Service Employees Union

Regardless of the provocation, I will not show irritation when the North Campus is called the Main Campus.

I will thank with more sincerity and frequency those 246 Lakeshore people who, despite the chaos of renovations at all sites, the beginnings of 10 new programs, the continued growth of self-pace instruction and a cliffhanger of a budget, have still managed to build the most exciting new educational enterprise in Ontario.

Tom Norton
Principal
Humber Lakeshore Campus

The past year has seen dramatic growth in the membership of the ASA as well as an expansion of its field of activity.

In the coming year the executive hopes to increase its activity and involvement in the decision making process as it affects our membership. We also hope to improve the communications up and down through the line structure. In this and other ways, we hope to be able to help the total College community achieve its goals and objectives.

Dave Guptill
President
Humber Branch
Administrative Staff Association

JAWORSKI ON CANADIAN FILM AWARDS JURY

Tad Jaworski, an instructor in Humber's Cinematography Program, was a member of the 1975 Canadian Film Awards' jury responsible for selecting the Etrog winners this year.

Jaworski, who is on leave of absence from Humber, won the Canadian Film Award for Best Documentary in 1972 for his film "Selling Out".

PRESIDENTS VISIT HUMBER

George Cohon, President of McDonald's Restaurants of Canada Limited, and J. J. Courtemanche, President of Howard Johnson's, were recent guests of the Hotel and Restaurant Administration Program at Humber College.

Igor Sokur, Coordinator of the Program, said "students benefit tremendously from lectures given by these outstanding people".

SALADA DESIGNS BY HUMBER GRADUATE

Ryrie Davis, who graduated from Humber's Advertising and Graphic Design Program last year, has designed some special items for Salada Foods.

The former Etobicoke student was responsible for the design of two hasty notes included in Salada products.

SUPERINTENDANT OF AMBULANCE SERVICES

A part-time first aid instructor in the Health Sciences Division at Humber has received a promotion.

Bob Scott becomes Superintendent of Operations for the Department of Ambulance Services for Metropolitan Toronto.

GUELPH GRADUATE TO SUPERVISE HUMBER ACTIVITY CENTRE

The Supervisor of the Children's Activity Centre at Humber College is a recent graduate of the Child Studies Program at the University of Guelph.

Julia Migus has also worked with the Annette Day Nursery. The Centre opened in late September and is for children between the ages of six months and six years whose parent(s) are attending part-time day courses, conferences or seminars.

MUSIC STUDENT SINGS AT K217 KLUB

Linda Rainer, a student in the vocal section of Humber's Music Program, performed at a recent Friday evening function in Humber's faculty and staff club.

She has performed on the CBC's Tommy Hunter Show as well as in various clubs throughout Toronto. Miss Rainer is currently working on some commercial jingles and promotion work for General Motors.

CN TOWER DISCUSSED AT HUMBER

The Manager of Marketing and Administration for the CN Tower in Toronto was a guest speaker recently at Humber College.

George Lang discussed the marketing potentials being developed for the Tower which is the largest free standing structure in the world.

The lecture was sponsored by Humber's Business Division and was attended by students and the general public.

$40,000 RAISED FROM FACULTY AND STAFF

Over $40,000 was raised in cash and pledges from faculty and staff of Humber during Phase One of their fund raising campaign towards Complex 5.

The sum represents contributions from 156 individuals or 15 per cent of the faculty and staff. More than three quarters of the donors have chosen to contribute to the entire Complex. Almost $37,000 from 130 faculty and staff fell into this category.

Six have designated their donations to the Residential Leadership and Management Development Centre while only 20 faculty and staff have pledged to the Physical Fitness Building and Sport Field.

"As for the entire campaign," said Robert Noble, Vice-President Development and Coordinating Chairman of the Campaign Committee, "we are continuing to approach those in business and industry for donations and more than $505,000 has been received.

"We will also be receiving answers within the next month or so, from Wintario and the Ministry of Culture & Recreation, on applications from us for fairly large grants towards the Physical Fitness Building/Gymnasium and Swimming Pool respectively."

Faculty and staff are reminded, that should you feel at any time that it is financially possible to make a contribution, you need not wait for the start of the next stage of the campaign. Cash donations are gladly accepted for one, two or three year payroll deductions can be arranged.

All contributions are tax deductible.

HOLIDAY BREAK 1975-76

Humber College will close for the Christmas season beginning at 12:00 noon, Wednesday, December 24, 1975 through Sunday, January 4, 1976 according to an announcement from the President.

"It is indeed a pleasure to announce that we are able to grant this recess to the majority of College employees in all categories at each campus of Humber," said Gordon Wragg, President of Humber College.

The announcement of a Christmas recess does not include those involved with maintaining the essential services of the College.

PIERRE BERTON DOES SPECIAL AT HUMBER

Veteran author and broadcaster Pierre Berton visited Humber in November to tape an audio visual special for the Boy Scouts of Canada.

Berton was accompanied by Doctor Peter Granger, Co-Chairman of the National Committee of Boy Scouts of Canada. At Humber, they were greeted by David Grossman, Director of College Relations before receiving an official welcome from Gordon Wragg, President of Humber.

"The tape will be presented to the National Council of Boy Scouts and distributed across country for commercial use," said Dr. Granger.

Tony Hiscoke, Chairman of IMC, and Doug Roberts, Head of Media Services, worked with Berton and Dr. Granger in the taping of the 15-minute special colour slide show.

Berton, a supporter of Boy Scouts of Canada, issued a challenge 18 months ago in Calgary to boy scouts to take into account the environment of Canada. The slide show, according to Berton, will also be used as a teaching aid to emphasize responsible camping practices.

HUMBER EDUCATIONAL DEVELOPMENT FUND

Humber has established a Development Fund to finance educational projects undertaken by College faculty and staff.

A second deadline date of March 15, 1976, has been set-up for applications from the faculty, administration and support personnel for funds to pursue a research or development project which will contribute to the educational environment of Humber College. Eight applications were submitted before the first deadline in November.

The College has set aside a sum of $20,000 for the 1975/76 fiscal year from which funds will be made available to successful applicants.

Humber expects from five to 10 projects will be submitted for consideration during the current fiscal year.

A nine-man Review Committee has been appointed to consider and approve applications. Chairman is Jim Davison, Vice-President Academic and Secretary is Frank Willock of Professional Development. Committee members are Derek Horne, Vice-President, Administration; Robert Noble, Vice-President, Development; Jackie Roberts, Principal - North Campus; Tom Norton, Principal - Humber Lakeshore; Dave Guptill - ASA; Rudie Jansen - OPSEU Faculty and Ted Fielding - OPSEU Support.

Young People at the Starting Line

YOUNG PEOPLE leaving school and university this year are coming up to the starting line in a troubled world.

New international alignments with changing balances of power cast a cloud over hopes for peace. Economic ups and downs affect the buying power of every family. Industrial unrest is marked by widespread unemployment. The rapidly increasing world population is straining food resources. And to all these major troubles there are added the irritations of traffic congestion, housing shortage, racial and religious dissension, and the apparent perversity of people.

Nevertheless, people everywhere keep alive their hope, if not expectation, of an improved future. Discontent with things as they are at present is accompanied by the desire and the will to change them for the better.

There can be no greater enterprise for young people and for their elders who left school many years ago than to adapt to changing conditions and to succeed in spite of them or by making use of them.

When you look at them discerningly you see that the sciences of economics, sociology and ethics are made up of attempts to formulate a satisfactory balance between desirable ends to be attained and the prices to be paid for them.

You cannot do what you like with anything or any situation: you can do only what can be done with it. It is possible to shape its future to some extent, but not if you ignore its past.

There is a subtle pleasure in using old things and thoughts wisely. We cannot avoid making the same mistakes as previous generations unless we learn what the mistakes were and how they came about. Learning what answers to problems like our own were made by our forefathers will help us to approach their solution as intelligently as they did and to avoid making the mistakes they made.

TO THE EDITOR

It's interesting to hear people thank Humber College during an event at Sheridan College.

The Family Life Education Council of Peel presented a workshop called "The Family - Survival Skills In The 70's" recently at Brampton Centennial Secondary School and sponsored by groups including Sheridan.

The attendance and response was very encouraging to the many people and agencies who cooperated in producing this event. I attended to head a workshop.

Of interest, was the thanks expressed to Humber College and particularly the Instructional Materials Centre for their willingness and efficiency with which it's staff responded to requests for service at short notice - the week before the workshop as well as all day of the event.

Congratulations IMC!

TO THE EDITOR

Last year, Humber College gave very appreciable support to the never ending battle against crippling diseases.

Christmas Seal contributions support programs which combat the ravaging effects of emphysema, tuberculosis, asthma, chronic bronchitis and other respiratory diseases through medical research, rehabilitation and public health education.

It is again our sincere hope that you invite your faculty, staff and students to join the fight against the cripples.

It's a matter of life and breath.

This letter was submitted by Igor Sokur of the Hotel and Restaurant Program:

Dear Mr. Sokur:

I must apologize for this very belated acknowledgement of my appreciation of the two very successful functions which were organized by you and the students attending the Hotel Management Course at Humber College. From Australia's point of view both functions were very favourably recieved by those attending and reflect in a more than favourable light not only your organization and the work of both you and your students, but also upon Australia.

May I take this opportunity to say once again how much I appreciated your cooperation and indeed the help of all involved.

Yours sincerely,

Charles A. Allen,

Changing Times

WILL WE RETURN TO GOOD OLD DAYS?

Many parts of the world are facing a power & fuel shortage . . .

In view of that fact, we may have to return to "the old days," which the romanticists call "good." The old days weren't good in terms of creature comforts. Let me tell you what they were like.

In those days (the 1930's) in our town, people didn't use much electricity. There was no power shortage, but it was considered an expensive luxury. Many tried hard — and successfully — to keep their light bills under the minimum monthly charge of $1.

People got along without electric toothbrushes. One radio per family was usually considered adequate. Parents marked it as a punishable offense when children "burned" lights unnecessarily.

Family members variously engaged in post-supper activity, such as reading, studying, or playing games, usually gathered in one room so that the light could be used to maximum advantage. However, if radio listening was the common pastime, the lights were frequently turned off and we all listened in darkness.

Those were "early to bed" days so that we might be healthy, wealthy and wise — and also save electricity or "juice," as some called it.

In the long days of summer — even before daylight saving time — some turned their lights on in evening hardly at all. They would eat early and then sit on their front porches and read the newspaper until darkness fell.

The absence of air conditioning, if it comes to that, may be the most disagreeable result of the power shortage.

In the old days we never learned to cope with the problem of summer heat too well.

We tried sleeping under the stars and sleeping in basements and sleeping under wet sheets and thinking cool thoughts. But there was no real escape from the heat except in movie theaters, the only buildings which were "air cooled."

It was not uncommon for moviegoers to sit through three different showings of the same movie. By the time they went home it was late at night and generally cool enough to permit sleep.

Here's a set of rules which actually existed in an office back in 1859.

1. Office employees will daily sweep the floors, dust the furniture, shelves, and show-cases.
2. Each day fill lamps, clean chimneys, and trim wicks. Wash windows once a week.
3. Each clerk will bring in a bucket of water and a scuttle of coal for the day's business.
4. Make your pens carefully, you may whittle nibs to your individual taste.
5. This office will be open at 7 A.M. and close at 8 P.M. daily, except on the Sabbath, on which day it will remain closed. Each employee is expected to spend the Sabbath by attending Church and contributing liberally to the cause of the Lord.

6. Men employees will be given an evening off each week for courting purposes, or two evenings a week if they regularly go to Church.
7. After an employee has spent 13 hours of labor in the office, he should spend the time reading the Bible and other good books while contemplating the Glories and the building up of the Kingdom.
8. Every employee should lay aside from each pay a goodly sum of his earnings for his benefit during his declining years, so that he will not become a burden upon the charity of his betters.
9. Any employee who smokes Spanish cigars, uses liquor in any form, gets shaved at a barber shop or frequents pool and public halls, will give me good reason to suspect his worth, intentions, integrity, and honesty.
10. The employee who has performed his labors faithfully and without fault for a period of five years in my service, and who has been thrifty and attentive to his religious duties, and is looked upon by his fellowmen as a substantial and lawabiding citizen, will be given an increase of 5 cents per day in his pay, providing a just return in profits from the business permits it.

TO THE EDITOR:

Recent observations of the left turn movement from Highway 27 into Humber College Blvd. have revealed a considerable back-up of vehicles between 8:30 a.m. and 9:00 a.m. This has been of some concern to the police, and efforts are being made to alleviate this situation by adjusting the timing of the signal at the intersection.

Unfortunately the situation cannot in its entirety be remedied because of the restrictions imposed by the heavy southbound traffic flow. Another difficulty is the fact that the bridge south of the intersection places limitations on the length of the left turn lane.

In view of the above we wonder if it would be possible to persuade at least a part of your student body, faculty and staff to use the Finch Avenue entrance. This would likely ease some of the prevalent congestion at Humber College Boulevard, and result in a better use of the advance left turn green at the intersection of Highway 27 and Finch Avenue. We hope that you will consider this proposal worthwhile, and that we may count on your cooperation. Any improvement of traffic conditions on Highway 27 will ultimately benefit both students and teachers of your College.

Should you wish any assistance or additional information from us, we will be most pleased to discuss this further with you.

Yours truly,

J. J. Martin,
District Traffic Analyst,
for: R. A. Shannon,
Regional Traffic Engineer

TO THE EDITOR

It is very encouraging to learn that the Federal Government recruited 124 graduates from various programs within our Colleges of Applied Arts and Technology during 1975. That's double the number in 1974.

Also of interest, is the fact that 290 other community college graduates were recruited into the Ontario Public Service during the period of July 1, 1974, to September 30, 1975. This represents 40 per cent of the total number of 728 post secondary graduates employed by the Ontario Public Service. By the way, congratulations Humber on your nine per cent growth in full-time enrollment this year.

I just thought I'd send these points to you so your readers are aware of the placement of students.

I'd also like to take this opportunity to say hello to the many faculty and staff friends I got to know while working in Placement at Humber.

Seasons greetings and best wishes in the New Year to all of you who I've greatly missed since being in the Ministry.

Regards,

Art King

TO THE EDITOR

We would like to ask the assistance of the instructors to remind their classes of the optional accident and prescription drug insurance.

This year, we were unable to mail direct to the students and attempted to distribute the information at registration. Enrolment is only 20% of last years total.

Prices are $3.50 and $10.00 for singles, $6.00 and $18.00 for families depending on which program you wish.

Brochures and enrolment forms are available in the Principal's Office - North Campus. Staff may participate in this plan as well.

HUMBER INSTRUCTORS RECEIVE AWARDS FROM GOVERNOR GENERAL

Two part-time instructors in the Health Sciences Division at Humber received awards from the Governor General.

Mary Bullock and Bob Scott, both residents of Woodbridge, have taught first aid to more than 1,500 students at Humber.

Mrs. Bullock received the Serving Sister Award for St. John Ambulance and Mr. Scott was honored with the Serving Brother Award of the Order of St. John during a ceremony at the Governor House in Ottawa.

Both awards are presented for outstanding service in first aid and are sanctioned by the Queen.

Mrs. Bullock was among those assisting at the 1969 Malton gas explosion and also assists at public functions including football and hockey games. Both winners were involved in offering first aid during the 1970 crash of an Air Canada jet in Woodbridge.

Mrs. Bullock was presented with another award in 1970 - The Priory Vote of Thanks - by the Lieutenant Governor of Ontario. Mr. Scott is a charter member of the York Central St. John Ambulance Association and Brigade.

REIS CREATES RECORD AND RAISES $3,000.00

Tony Reis, a student at Humber's Lakeshore II Campus created a world record by wearing roller skates for 30 consecutive days.

Reis raised more than $3,000.00 in pledges for the Cystic Fibrosis Fund during his 700 hour campaign.

"I think I did quite well on skates," said the 22 year old who is married and has three children. "Prior to this, I only skated once before and that was 10 years ago."

The skates were removed by the Mayor of Etobicoke, Dennis Flynn, during the College's campaign for the United Way.

"I've always wanted to contribute something to Cystic Fibrosis," said Reis. "This was the most difficult thing I've ever done and the most important thing to me is raising money, not making a record."

10 NAMES SUBMITTED FOR GOOD EGG AWARD

Nominations are being accepted for the Good Egg Award. The Award is presented annually to a faculty or staff member who consistently displays the spirit of cooperation, good-nature and exceptional human qualities while maintaining a high level of excellence in job performance.

"The winner will be announced in January and we've already received 10 nominations from people at all campuses of the College," said Doris Tallon, Assistant to the President.

CANADIAN ADVERTISING ADVISORY BOARD MEMBER LECTURES AT HUMBER

The Business Division at Humber conducts lectures on a regular basis for students, faculty and staff and the general public on a variety of topics.

In December, Bob Oliver, Managing Director of the Canadian Advertising Advisory Board, spoke in the North Campus lecture theatre on the subject "Advertising Today - What's It All About?"

The lectures are organized by Business Instructor Byron Collins.

CONSUMERS CONCERNED WITH PRICES?

Humber's Institute for Community Studies in Canada and the Conferences and Seminars Office are sponsoring a conference on consumerism in February.

"The interests of the consumer and products will be explored in depth," said Jim Conlon, Director of the Institute for Community Studies. "Prices, marketing, budgeting and profits are the issues."

The one-day conference will be held on Wednesday, February 11th at Humber's North Campus from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Registration for conference materials, lunch, etc. is only $25.00.

Martin Rogol, a graduate of George Washington University Law School, will be the keynote speaker.

At present, he is working with Ralph Nader on citizen concerns, chiefly in the area of public utilities. Rogol is the Director of the National Public Interest Research Group and in that role is concerned with federal legislation of importance to local citizen groups.

Other guest speakers include Deanna Burns, Consumer Consultant with Ministry of Consumer Affairs; Taimi Davis, Coordinator of Women Against Soaring Prices and Joanne Schincariol of Canada's Consumer Help Office.

For registration and more information call 676-1200, extension 539 or 540.

RECORD NUMBER OF HUMBER GRADUATES OBTAIN JOBS

Community Colleges in Ontario have a higher percentage of job placement than universities according to Ruth Matheson, Director of Career Planning and Placement at Humber.

"Universities don't really keep a record like us but I've heard something like 40 per cent of their graduates obtain jobs," she said.

Mrs. Matheson added that universities don't really train their students for employment.

"Lots of students don't go to universities for the purpose of getting jobs," she said.

As for Humber, 924 of 1,228 graduate students were available for employment and of these a record 95 per cent are working.

"We didn't really expect it to be that high," said Mrs. Matheson.

"Ninety per cent of those were employed in jobs related to their course of study at Humber."

The remaining 400 students either went on to further education or could not be contacted.

Graduates in the Law Enforcement Program received the highest starting salaries - between $8,500 and $12,000.

An interview with THE PRESIDENT

1. What steps have you taken to remedy the budget problems at Humber?

It is a well known fact that some 60 staff positions were eliminated primarily in the administrative side of the College as of last summer and that no new appointments are made without very careful scrutiny of the need for such employees. Economies have been achieved in conserving heat and light and in more restricted use of telephones.

I think it is fair to say that the administrative staff at every level in the College carefully consider the benefits to be gained in the light of expenditures to be made to determine whether the expenditures are absolutely essential and what benefits such expenditures will yield.

We are now in the process of developing budgets for 1976/77 and the main purpose of the exercise will be to determine how we can accommodate the maximum number of students with the least possible expenditure.

2. Is there any truth to the rumour that you are being promoted to a position in the Ministry of Colleges and Universities?

There is no truth whatsoever to such a rumour.

3. What is your reaction to a recent report recommending increases in tuition fees and withdrawal of loans for part-time students?

The latest information I have is that the actual fees paid by post-secondary students at the colleges cover roughly 16% of the total operating costs of the education provided.

I am of the opinion that an additional $100.00 per year added to the Community College tuition fee would not be exorbitant. This would mean an additional income across the college system in Ontario of over 5 million dollars. This would reduce the burden on the tax payer. I feel that concomitant with this should be a reasonably liberal policy with respect to loans and grants and possibly relaxation of the means test whereby students qualify for such loans or grants. Loans for part-time students would appear to be less crucial.

4. Why are we building an athletic facility when we don't have football, volleyball and basketball teams?

I am firmly convinced that physical activity is an absolute necessity for every individual whatever his normal schedule might be. You have only to go out to the Bubble in the afternoon to see how congested the existing athletic facilities are. It should be self evident that in the Humber community of nearly 5,500-6,000 people at the North Campus that some kind of gymnasium facility is a necessity. It may be true that we don't have inter-varsity volleyball or basketball teams but a gym would accommodate many kinds of recreational activities badly needed by students. People from the community could be accommodated in recreational programs set up by the Centre for Continuous Learning if we had such a facility.

5. Will Humber be adding new programs? If so, what and when?

Humber is always probing into the need for new programs. Not to do so, is to stagnate and fail to keep up with the times. I have every expectation that there may be some new programs so important that perhaps some of the weaker existing programs might need to be replaced. New programs are constantly being reviewed with the help of Advisory Committees and any announcement as to their introduction will of necessity be made much in advance of the starting date.

6. Do you receive any feedback or comments on why Humber has become a success in its community from other Presidents of post secondary institutions?

I constantly get comments with regard to Humber's success in its community for reasons of a wide variety. I don't think there is any question but that the quality of the programs developed in the early years have enabled Humber to acquire a good reputation right from the start. The significant degree of initiative by our Centre for Continuous Learning and Training in Business and Industry to provide a valued service is another reason why Humber has become so well known. Another point not to be forgotten is our stress on endeavouring to treat people as significant individuals rather than names on a list. We try to meet students' needs whatever those needs may happen to be, e.g. housing, transportation, placement, health, counselling services, and upgrading courses so a student can embark on a post secondary program.

7 How is your relationship with CSAO and ASA?

I never give this very much conscious thought. I'd like to think that I relate to either CSAO or ASA in the light that these organizations have the interest of Humber College at heart and even though we may disagree on various points they are at least active and sincere. I also feel that organizations such as these deserve general college support. I'd like to think too that those who may not altogether agree with the policies and programs of such associations would become active and endeavour to shape association policies more to their own liking.

8 Can you tell us about plans for the area bordering the College's North Campus?

Many of us have wondered what was going to happen especially in the large tract of land bounded by Highway 27, Finch and Humber College Blvd. It would appear that the development of this as a residential area is at least a year away and perhaps longer. The ultimate aim according to the Etobicoke Master Plan is that the area surrounding Humber College would eventually accommodate something like twelve and a half thousand people.

9 Are you happy with the education students are receiving at Humber?

The information that comes back to me is that the students are getting a very good educational program at Humber College. I no longer hear students complain that classes are slipshod or that they are not well organized. I frequently get complaints that the workload is too heavy and this I am never too much alarmed about. There is a happy balance between field work and theoretical classroom instruction. It is obvious that there can always be room for improvement either we improve or we tend to slip back into habits and ways that can get out of date. Most of the feedback however is most complimentary and suggests that education of high quality is being offered at Humber College.

10 With the success of NLC's in York, can we anticipate moving into Etobicoke?

It is true that the Neighbourhood Learning Centres in York have been an outstanding success and these have enabled Humber to come close to the people we serve in the Borough of York. By cooperating with the Borough it has been possible to keep administrative and publicity costs to a minimum and thereby do jointly a more effective piece of work than either of us could do individually. It appears that Etobicoke does not share the feelings of the people in the Borough of York and there is no way we can impose our will on an unwilling partner. It is hoped that eventually the Borough of Etobicoke may see fit to join us in this kind of program. It is true however that with the number of locations and campuses Humber has in the Borough of Etobicoke it hasn't quite the same importance as it has in the more distant Borough of York.

11 How does our financial situation compare to other colleges of similar size and enrolment?

Some of the largest colleges have had more financial problems than smaller ones. This is quite true of Algonquin College in Ottawa and ourselves. I think Humber has endeavoured to provide services to the limit of its resources and I would contend that none of the resources at our disposal have been used unwisely or carelessly and that's probably the reason why we serve perhaps more individual people and attract more applications than any other college in the Province.

12 What about Humber Lakeshore and Complex 5? Will we get government support and when will these projects become a reality?

The future of the development of the Lakeshore Campus depends of course on two things: the need for additional space and the availability of capital funds to provide such space.

Additional funds would enable us to vacate some of the rented space we currently occupy, and enable us also to consolidate the work being done in the Lakeshore area, thus enabling us to effect a number of economies. It is apparent that the more separate units of a relatively small size that we have to administer the more costly it is (on a per student basis) to provide education.

In regard to Complex 5 it is astounding that in a very adverse climate as regards the profitability of industry we have accumulated over half a million dollars in either donations or pledges. The next step is to go to our constituents with a proposed first phase for their criticism and comments, then approach the Ministry to determine the extent of government support that may be available. It is hoped that sufficient funds can be assembled to enable us to get underway with a phase that would include, a gymnasium and also a residential learning centre. This of course is subject to review by the college community and the Board of Governors.

13 Do you have any New Year's resolutions?

For me the new year normally begins in September but every day can be a denial of the past and a new resolve for the future - and here is what it is to-day.

To improve the effectiveness of Humber College by encouraging colleagues to remain positive and optimistic, in spite of limited resources.

To "hang loose" and appreciate that we can achieve fulfilment and satisfaction in our day to day work. To convey to everyone in the "system" that meeting human needs is more important than adhering to the "rules" of a bureaucracy.

To endeavour to consult and to convince all the constituents of Humber - students, faculty, support staff, admin. staff, Board, that Humber is the sum total of all of us and each one has a vital part to play. To try, as best one very imperfect individual can, to build a climate of love and trust, so the community that is Humber can play a useful part in bringing harmony to a troubled society.

And more personally - to take a little time to enjoy people, books, music and plants.

PROFILE

PROFILE will appear in each edition of Humber Happenings and is intended to introduce the background of certain faculty and staff at Humber College. This month, we look at gymnastics instructor Eugene Galperin who is at the Humber Lakeshore 1 Campus.

When Humber College gymnastics coach Evgenii Galperin goes to the rings and parallel bars in the gym and tosses off a few routines "an old man of 42 can do" you see the stamina and concentration he can impart to his students.

For Galperin, who teaches at Humber's Lakeshore campus, was one of the five or six top Russian gymnastics coaches before he came to Canada 1½ years ago. He helped Russian Alexander Maleev win his silver medal at the 1972 Munich Olympics.

And Galperin has the same kind of plans for Canada, and Humber in particular. Along with the regular fitness-type gymnastics classes he gives at the college now, he plans to start teaching an Olympic-standard course here in January.

It was this belief that Canada can develop gymnastics champions that lead Galperin here in the first place. "I'm not a politician," he says.

Galperin, who lives on Goldfinch Cres. in North York, says he originally thought of going to the United States when he left Russia.

But "before the next Olympics there's going to be a real need for me here," he says, adding he's an acknowledged authority in both the Russian and other styles of gymnastics.

And he's not boasting either. Shortly after he came to Metro, a group of Russian athletes visiting the city were asked if they knew Galperin. Not only did they know him, they said, but they considered him one of the best in the Soviet Union.

Galperin, who holds degrees in physical education, physiology and human anatomy from Voronezh Teachers' University, has been teaching gymnastics for 25 years.

Galperin who has lectured on gymnastics in various high schools and held a gymnastics summer camp at Humber last summer, has already produced his first Canadian Champ.

The winner of the Ontario Gymnastics Championship junior division held in Windsor in May, 13 year-old Brad Peters of Brampton, was coached by Galperin.

Galperin said a desire to go to other countries, and coach athletes of different nationalities led him to leave the Soviet Union.

He said other coaches had been sent to foreign countries by the Soviet government, but he was told he couldn't go.

He says the spirit of Russian-American detente, and the fact that he's Jewish helped him get out of the Country.

He couldn't find a job for five months. But after he did some part-time coaching for Colin Wackett of the Ontario Gymnastics Federation, Wackett helped him find the job at Humber.

His wife, Raisa, an English and Russian literature teacher in the Soviet Union, now works as a legal bookkeeper, his son, Boris, 22 is at the University of Guelph. and daughter, Vicki, 9, is in second grade.

WINTER PROGRAMS FROM CENTRE FOR WOMEN

The Centre for Women is offering five courses during the Winter semester.

If you'd like to learn to assert yourself and speak up for your rights at the time instead of figuring out appropriate responses hours later, then find out about the Assertiveness Training for Women course.

Three classes start in January. Eight sessions cost $24.00. Call the Centre for dates, times and locations.

If you want to change just a job into a career or assess your present status, the Career Planning for Women course is for you.

Ten sessions cost $30.00 and the program is offered on Wednesday evenings from 7:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m. at the Runnymede Neighbourhood Learning Centre starting on January 21st.

Other courses include Opportunity for Change, Let's Talk About Women's Books and a seminar for Professionals Counselling Women.

Call Humber's Centre for Women at 676-1200, extension 541 or 542 for more information.

LADIES SLIM AND TRIM

Women faculty and staff at Humber College now have an opportunity to take physical education classes after work.

"In response to enquiries about the continuation of a women's fitness class, a Ladies Slim and Trim course has been organized for the winter term," said Shelagh Tippet of the Athletic Department.

The class will be run in the Bubble on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 4:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. starting January 20th, 1976. The fee will be $16.00 for 16 sessions.

For more information and registration call the Athletic Department, North Campus at extension 217 or 270.

UNIVERSITIES JOIN SUCCESSFUL NLC'S

The University of Toronto and Guelph University began offering courses this Fall through Humber's Neighbourhood Learning Centre system.

Three years ago, Humber College and the Borough of York Board of Education and Department of Parks and Recreation, joined their resources to offer the widest possible variety of programs to residents in the Borough of York.

The NLC concept is based on a number of principles including the decentralization of learning in your neighbourhood. For example, if you live in the Borough of York, you can take a Humber College course at the Vaughan Road NLC instead of going to a North or Lakeshore Campus site.

Derwyn Shea, Director of Humber's NLC's, says enrolment at the local Centres has reached a record.

"We had almost 700 people enrol in Fall credit and non-credit courses," said Shea. "And I think this is mainly because people want to take continuing education courses close to where they live."

The University of Toronto started their initial courses at York Memorial NLC while Guelph began at the Weston NLC. Humber operates courses at 10 NLC's and the most popular is Runnymede on Jane Street. York University is the third major post-secondary institution to participate.

For more information on NLC's and Winter courses call Derwyn Shea at 676-1200, ext. 377.

HUNDREDS ATTEND CONFERENCES AT HUMBER

November was a busy month for the Conferences and Seminars Office at Humber College.

More than 400 women from across Ontario listened to writer-broadcaster June Callwood define the topic Occupation: Housewife during a Housewives Speak Out conference held in conjunction with Humber's Centre for Women.

The utilization of alternative forms of energy and the public's acceptance of energy conservation were two of the topics discussed at the two-day Alternate Energy '75 conference attended by 200 people from Canada, the United States and Venezuela.

An extremely successful one-day pre-season workshop on cross-country skiing attracted 100 skiers and non-skiers to listen and discuss all aspects of the sport. This workshop took place less than a month after 10,000 people crowded in to the Ski World '75 show at Humber.

The Addiction Research Foundation and Humber College combined to sponsor the First Canadian Conference on Occupational Alcoholism and Drug Abuse. The Honourable Marc Lalonde was the guest speaker at the four day event held in Ottawa and attended by more than 200 people.

A seminar, called Teaching Adults, was held for people responsible for the education of adults, particularly industrial trainers, evening school and community college instructors with little or no exposure to instructional techniques.

A workshop on Time Management and Probing Value Issues In Education were both postponed due to the mail strike.

HUMBER YORK CENTRE - A MULTICULTURAL CENTRE

Alberto DiGiovanni, Director of the Humber-York Centre of Humber College, was responsible for getting a back page advertisement in the Ontario Multicultural Theatre Association bulletin.

The bulletin announced the Fourth Multicultural Theatre Festival at the town hall of the St. Lawrence Centre for the Performing Arts in October and November.

The ad explained the purpose of the Humber-York Centre as an educational and cultural centre for the entire community along with information on cultural events, continuous learning and career programs.

RECIPE OF THE MONTH

Igor Sokur, Co-ordinator of the Hotel and Restaurant Management Program, will have a regular recipe in this space.

Response from readers to the "Recipe of the Month" feature has been outstanding. We'd be happy to hear more of your comments.

CALLING ALL SECRETARIES

"Secretaries should cut the umbilical cord from the typewriter," said the Dean of Humber's Business Division during the National Secretaries Association meeting at the Park Plaza Hotel in November.

Eric Munding was one of four panelists at the meeting discussing the topic "Secretaries as Business Women - What Is Their Role?"

The discussion brought out the fact that with the advent of word processing, the concept of the traditional secretary is rapidly changing.

Munding told those present that "secretaries should take courses in a variety of areas if they want to become eligible for promotion to management positions in their organizations."

Also attending from Humber were Elsie Swartz, Sylvia Clarke, Eleanor Matthews and Joan Girvan.

HUMBER'S EMPLOYEE BENEFITS CENTRE ANNOUNCES 1975 AWARDS

The Centre for Continuing Studies in Employee Benefits, located in the Business Division at Humber College has announced the winners of its 1975 prizes and bursaries.

"The awards are presented for projects of special merit by students of the program," said James Brodie, Director of the Centre.

The Johnson, Higgins, Willis, Faber Limited Prize for a paper on the Integration of Government and Occupational Pension Plans went to Gary Porter, Pension Division of Metropolitan Toronto.

The Royal Trust Prize for a paper on Pension Supervisory Legislation was awarded to Arthur Keyes, a financial consultant.

Vic Anderson, Supervisor of Pensions and Annuities, was presented with the Excelsior Life Prize for a paper on Experience Rating as Applied to Group Insurance.

SUPREME OF CHICKEN IN CANADIAN WHISKEY SERVES 8

Bone and cut in half 4 spring chickens which are approximately 2 1/2 lbs. each.

Place boned half of the chickens in a pan and sprinkle flesh of chickens with juice of 1 lemon, 4 oz. whiskey, 1 tsp. salt, 1/3 tsp. each pepper, cardamom, coriander, and nutmeg. Cover pan and marinate for 1 hr. in the refrigerator.

Stuff each half of the chicken with the almond-whiskey stuffing in such a way that a small ball of almond paste will be inside the stuffing.

Wrap each stuffed half of chicken with greased strip of butcher brown paper or double folded foil paper and place in lightly greased pan. Grease top of each half of the chicken with butter and place into preheated oven (325°F) for approximately 45 minutes or until fully cooked. Baste chicken every 8 minutes.

When cooked take stuffed halves of chicken from the oven and remove butcher paper strips, place on serving platter and flambe with 1 cup of preheated Canadian Whiskey.

Note: from remaining fat dripping and juices which are left on the bottom of the roasting pan, make gravy and serve with the chickens.

Recipe for stuffing:

4 cups of cooked rice and whiskey pilaff
8 x 1 1/2 oz. balls of puree almond paste

Recipe for rice and whiskey pilaff for stuffing:

Ingredients:

2 tbsp. butter
2 tbsp. finely chopped onion
1 cup Australian seedless raisins
1/2 cup finely chopped mushrooms
1 1/2 cups rice
1 1/2 cups chicken stock (salt and seasoning to taste)
1 cup whiskey
1 cup dry sherry
1 tbsp. salt
1/4 tsp. of pepper, cardamom, coriander, thyme, marjoram and nutmeg (in powdered state)
1 tbsp. finely chopped zest of lemon

Saute onion, mushrooms, and raisins in the butter, add rice and cook over medium heat until all liquid and butter are absorbed. Add seasoned hot chicken stock, also slowly add whiskey and sherry. Also add salt, zest of lemon and all spices. Cover the pot and put into preheated (325°F) oven for 18-25 minutes or until rice is fully cooked. When cooked remove from pan into bowl, cool and add 2 beaten eggs.

Note: Stuffing must be fully cooled before use for stuffing of the chicken.

A CHRISTMAS DRINK

Igor Sokur, Co-ordinator of Humber's Hotel and Restaurant Program, has prepared a new recipe for the Christmas season.

It's called "A Consul" and according to Sokur is an excellent punch served hot or cold.

The recipe for one serving is as follows: two ounces of Australian Brandy and four ounces of hot or cold cranberry juice: mix well and add one slice of orange and serve.

"The taste of this punch is very smooth, dry and slightly mellow with a pleasant aftertaste," said Sokur.

The recipe was prepared by Sokur to commemorate the visit of the Consul General of Australia, Charles Allen, to Humber College last month.

HUMBER HOSTS AUSTRALIAN CONSULATE

The Australian Consulate held a wine-tasting luncheon recently at Humber in conjunction with the Hotel and Restaurant Administration Program at the College.

Charles Allen, Australian Consul General, and Emily Martin, consultant to the Australian Wine Board attended the event.

Mrs. Martin said in an interview that wine is a matter of taste and different soils produce different tasting properties. She agreed that Canadian wines, given the right weather conditions, can compare to the finest.

About 35 wines were available for the event attended by reporters from magazines and daily and weekly newspapers, staff and Hotel and Restaurant students from Humber.

OLD TIMERS NIGHT

About 200 faculty and staff from all campuses of Humber attended one of the most entertaining evenings at the College this year.

Called "Old Timers Night" and organized by Humber's Professional Development Department, the December 4th evening featured all kinds of entertainment, conversation and an excellent dinner.

"It was really a super evening of relaxation and fun for Humber's faculty and staff," said Bill Thompson of Pro Dev. "Music was by students in our Music Program and skits were organized by the Fashion staff."

FIRST GRADUATE IN TECHNOLOGY PROGRAM

Donald Strain is the first student to graduate from Humber's Quality Control Technician Program.

The 20-year old Etobicoke student is now working with Spar Aero Space Products Limited of Toronto.

The two-year Humber Program deals with studies in quality control and assurance on analysis of production parts. Bob Shecter is the instructor.

The Company where Strain will be working, built the space communications satellite, Anik.

HUMBER'S MUSIC DEPARTMENT SWAMPED BY REQUESTS

Don Johnson, Coordinator of Humber's Music Program, admits his program has come a long way over the past year. "Last year, we couldn't buy our way into a playing engagement," he said. "It wasn't that our students and staff weren't good but no one knew of us. This year, we're swamped with requests for Humber's jazz and rock groups."

Johnson said he attributes the success to visits to secondary schools across Ontario, publicity of concerts and the general information promotion of the program.

"We've got interviews with students from across Canada who want to enrol in our program," Johnson said, "The reputation our students and staff are leaving is super."

Humber's Stage Bands, after their smashing success in placing first and second in the Canadian Jazz Stage Band championships, have received numerous calls for concerts.

Stage Band A recently performed a show for the United Appeal and the Rock Combo played their first concert for a Complex 5 function before a crowded concourse. Both groups also performed at Humber's Red Cross Campaign. And a dixie type group is being formed to play at College hockey games.

Music teachers from Peel Secondary Schools held their Professional Development day at Humber while recent stories in the Toronto Star, Etobicoke Gazette and Etobicoke Guardian complimented student concerts.

The Music Department has again started its popular Wednesday afternoon concerts in the North Campus concourse and recent performances included the Trump Davidson dixie group, flute player and vocalist Kathy Moses, and music instructor Al Michalek. A special Christmas concert was also held.

FURNITURE DESIGN STUDENTS WIN AWARDS

Three students in the Furniture Design Program at Humber won a total of $750 at a recent Musterring Furniture Design Competition.

Dave Silverstein won $350 for second place, Jim Nopper took the third place $250 prize and Larry Heplar received a $150 award and an honorable mention. All three designed tables. First prize was won by a student at Kitchener's Conestoga College.

Steve Thomas

FORMER OXFAM FUND RAISER JOINS STAFF AT HUMBER

Steve Thomas, Humber's Director of Special Funding, worked for Oxfam before joining the staff at the College.

Thomas, a native of Toronto, came to Humber in September after working as a fund raiser with Oxfam Ontario since 1973.

He received his Bachelor of Arts degree in history from the University of Western Ontario in London and his Masters degree in geography from Toronto's York University. Thomas also taught geography for one year in Holland and one year at the Crescent School in Toronto. His hobby is politics and he has worked as an organizer and campaign manager in both Federal and Provincial elections.

INCREASE IN PART-TIME EDUCATION AT HUMBER AND FEWER COURSES

Enrolment in part-time evening courses offered by Humber College this Fall was up six per cent even though there were fewer courses, says Frank Thibodeau of Humber's Centre for Continuous Learning.

"Our total registration for the Fall period is 6,867 as compared to 6,410 last year", he said. "We are also running only 347 courses instead of 394 during the same time last year."

The most popular area for part-time study has been in the courses in Humber's Business Division with more than 1,700 students registered.

Thibodeau says the demand for part-time continuing education is growing so rapidly that Humber has been accepting applications for a wide range of programs in January since September.

For a free brochure on courses available during Winter 1976 call the Centre for Continuous Learning at 676-1200 or 678-9195.

"We now have better access to those living in Southern Etobicoke and Mississauga, the Lakeshore, Mimico and the western part of the City of Toronto because of our new Lakeshore I Campus on Lakeshore Blvd. at Kipling," said Thibodeau.

More than 300 people signed up for Fall courses at Lakeshore and 680, almost double the number last year, are registered at Neighbourhood Learning Centres.

HUMBER FULL-TIME ENROLMENT PASSES 7,000

Humber College has a record total of 7,117 students registered in full-time programs at eight campuses according to the latest report issued by the Registrar's Office.

"Enrolment is up by at least 500 students over the same period last year resulting in a very pleasing 10 per cent increase," said Humber College Registrar, Fred Embree.

The students are spread out at campuses in the Boroughs of Etobicoke and York. The total number of students makes Humber the largest community college in Metropolitan Toronto and the second largest in Ontario.

Of the 7,117 full-time total, there are 4,332 students at the North Campus in Rexdale; 268 at Osler, 118 at Quo Vadis and 1,399 at the five Humber Lakeshore Campuses. First year post-secondary students account for 3,500.

Another 300 students are registered for programs which begin in January.

SEX EDUCATION CLINIC CONDUCTED BY REIDY

Earl Reidy of the Human Studies Division conducted a sex education clinic in November for faculty members in the Medicine Department at McMaster University's Medical Centre in Hamilton.

Reidy has also been invited to consult with and become involved as a therapist with the Social Work Department at the same Medical Centre in cases of sexual identity crisis.

He has participated in discussions on CBC Radio and Television as well as CHCH-TV in Hamilton regarding sex education programs.

REPORT RECOMMENDS HIGHER TUITION FEES

A wide ranging special report recently recommended drastic cuts in provincial government spending which could have a major say in the role of community colleges.

The 402-page document, prepared by an eight-member special program review committee of public servants and private sector representatives gives government 184 ways to save money.

The report is critical of education spending and calls for higher tuition fees; 200 fewer people in regional education offices; a reduction in student grants but an increase in loans for a savings next year of $40 million dollars; and a phase-out of provincial support for part-time general interest courses in community colleges.

The report recommends reducing staff in the social services field of provincial institutions by 1,500 and a three-year freeze on new facilities for chronic, nursing and aged care.

It calls for a three-year moratorium on new programs under the Ministry of Culture and Recreation and a three-year freeze on community recreation centres.

The special program review was asked for by Premier William Davis last June.

Committee members were former federal auditor-general Maxwell Henderson; broadcaster Betty Kennedy; General Foods president Robert Hurlbut; secretary of the provincial cabinet, James Fleck; Deputy Treasurer A. Rendall Dick; and secretary of the management board of cabinet, William Anderson. McKeough was chairman, Eric Winkler, former chairman of the management board of cabinet, sat in on it until his election defeat.

UNITED WAY DRIVE AT HUMBER GOES OVER TOP

Students and staff at Humber College combined to raise the most money ever collected at the College for the United Way.

A seven hour blitz by first and second year students in the Public Relations Program resulted in $1,513.00 being collected.

"Our goal was $1,500.00," said second year student Karen Smith who along with Tom Laszlo was Cochairman of a Planning Committee for the event.

Humber Happenings has learned that for the second consecutive year a donation from a faculty member in the Business Division put the total over the top.

Elsie Swartz, an instructor in the Secretarial Program at Humber, donated more than $100.00 at the end of the campaign.

Some of the fund-raising events included a dunking machine, shinerama, United Weigh contest, pie-eating contest and raffle for Murray McLaughlin concert tickets.

NEW THINGS HAPPENING IN 217 KLUB

Gord Simnett, President of the 217 Klub says a few changes have been made to serve members better.

"We now operate from 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday," said Simnett. "And from 4:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. on Fridays with live entertainment that night from 5:00 pm to 7:00 pm.

The annual membership fee has been raised to $2.00 and about 200 faculty and staff have joined, the majority of them from the North Campus.

Elections are taking place for the 1975-76 executive. Current members of the executive are Simnett of the Bookstore; President; Helen Gordon of the Registrar's Office, Vice-President; Bev Riches of Physical Resources, Secretary; Stan Shaw of the Business Division, Treasurer; Stewart Hall of the Applied Arts Division, Pub Manager and Helen Quirk of the Library, Social Conventor.

A monthly newsletter is being planned for members and ideas on activities for a Club event are being accepted by members of the executive.

There are two special functions planned for Club members. They are a ski week in Vermont from December 28th to January 4th and a golf week from February 1st to February 8th in the Grand Bahama Island.

NEW PRESIDENT FOR HUMBER UNION

Rudie Jansen of the Technology Division is the new President and the Ontario Public Service Employees Union is the new name.

Jansen, an instructor in the Bio-Science Technology Program of the Chemical Cluster, takes over from Werner Loiskandl of the Business Division who resigned last month.

OPSEU is the name replacing the Civil Service Association of Ontario.

Jansen, one of the original 35 faculty members to join Humber nine years ago, is politically active and is also one of the original members of a group that started the Ontario Federation of Community College Faculty Associations in 1968.

Jansen says he is satisfied with the present faculty contract. "It gives us the ability to determine our own work loads," he said. "I also believe that the faculty at Humber are in a better position than those at other Colleges in Ontario."

SPECIAL LUNCHEONS FOR EVERYONE AT HUMBER

Igor Sokur, Coordinator of the Hotel and Restaurant Administration Program, will again be offering special luncheons starting in January.

Igor's gourmet luncheons will be served at 12 noon on Tuesdays. The menu will be a la carte. The minimum charge will be $3.00 and only 20 seats are available.

Reservations can be made through Eleanor Matthews in the Business Division at extension 257.

The Family and Consumer Studies Program will also continue their weekly international luncheons next month according to Penny Bell, Coordinator for the Program.

Lunch, on Fridays at 12 noon, is only $2.00. Call Penny at extension 487 for reservations.

SATURDAY BUSES CANCELLED

The free Saturday morning Humber College bus has been cancelled because of the lack of people using it.

On one occasion the bus carried five people. Each trip costs the College $61.50 according to Don McLean, Transportation Manager.

The bus service was first introduced to provide transportation for the 240 people taking courses through the Centre for Continuous Learning on Saturdays.

Students view some of the 40 items exhibited during the Leonardo da Vinci exhibition at Humber's McGuire Gallery during November.

TWO MAJOR EXHIBITS AT MCGUIRE GALLERY

The McGuire Gallery at Humber's North Campus was the site of two of the most popular art shows ever to be held at the College.

In November, the Leonardo da Vinci exhibition was on display and attracted more than 1,000 people during its 16-day showing.

The Exhibition included 25 scale models of da Vinci's inventions based on his original designs. The display is owned by IBM Canada Limited and was organized by the Literature and Communications Department of Humber's Human Studies Division.

Leonardo da Vinci lived during the latter part of the European Renaissance. As an artist he painted such famous masterpieces as the Mona Lisa and The Last Supper. He was also an architect, an engineer, a sculptor, biologist, geologist, musician and inventor.

"The response to see this show at Humber was excellent," said Paul Guin, Manager of shows and exhibits for IBM Canada Ltd. "This is the only exhibit of its kind in Canada and to my knowledge, hasn't even been shown in Europe." The Gallery also displayed a 40-piece exhibit from the Ontario Jockey Club from November 27th to December 3rd.

"Other than Humber, this show was only seen for a few days at the end of the Autumn meeting at Woodbine Race Track," said Bill Galvin, Director of Special Promotions for the Ontario Jockey Club. "It's unique and special and we're glad Humber had it displayed."

The show featured watercolours, oils, photography and sculpture of thoroughbred action at Woodbine, stables, training, people and scenes of races.

A 60-pound life-size plastic horse was also on display.

The Gallery is holding a faculty, staff and student Christmas art sale until December 19th.

NATIONAL PHARMACIST CONFERENCE AT HUMBER

The Canadian Society of Hospital Pharmacists will hold its seventh annual education conference at Humber College in March. It will be the first time the event is held in a place other than the Inn on the Park.

About 150 delegates from the 800-member society are expected to attend the three-day event which is open to pharmacists who are employed by hospitals only.

The conference will examine the most up-to-date information involving drug development. Topics to be discussed include drug use in medical emergencies, handling investigational drugs and drugs of the future.

A series of manufacturers' and professional exhibits will be on display.

For registration fees and more information call the Conferences and Seminars Office at 676-1200, extension 540.

COMMUNITY COURSE STARTS IN JANUARY

Stewart Hall, Coordinator of the Community Studies Program, says an Education for Development Certificate will be offered at Humber in January.

"This is really for people who are active in the community," said Hall. Community work can cover anything from hospital volunteer work to an Ontario Housing project. The Humber-York Centre at Eglinton Avenue and Dufferin Street and Storefront Humber on the Lakeshore are examples of centres working with the community.

Some of the sessions are designed to help students decide what grounding they require in community work. The program is expected to help students analyse community situations.

For more information on dates, times and costs call Stewart Hall at 676-1200, extension 394 or Jim Conlon at extension 327.

HENNING AND BOYD WINNERS IN CAMERA RAFFLE

There is nothing like winning a camera the week before you go away on a holiday.

Bob Henning of the Computer Centre was the winner of the Polaroid SX70 Deluxe Colour Camera Raffle held in the Concourse of the North Campus. All proceeds from the Raffle went towards Complex 5.

Henning took the camera on a delayed honeymoon to Florida and the site of Walt Disney World.

The winning ticket, number 0413, was selected from more than 900 others by Jackie Roberts, Principal of the North Campus, during halftime of a one-hour concert by Humber's Music Department featuring the debut of a new rock group. Robert E. Lee of the group with the same name and Deanne Stead, lead vocalist with the rock group Father, are members of the new Humber Group.

Clark Boyd, also of the Computer Center, won $10.00 for selling the winning ticket.

The top seven ticket sellers were Don McLean of Transportation with 150; Dave Guptill of Health Sciences with 121; Wilda Harrison of Lakeshore I with 70; Alberto DiGiovanni of Humber York Centre with 50; Margaret Antonides of the Development Department with 40; Gord Simnett of the Bookstore with 38 and Jack Kendall of Custodial with 36 tickets sold.

And so we come again to Christmas with all its colour and joy, its magic and wonder, its spirit of good will and warmth.

*What it means to us depends on what we bring to it, not in gifts and outer display, but in the inner offerings of love and faith that abide in the heart.
The miracle of Christmas weaves the magic of love, fills the heart with peace and causes a weary world to pause.....to remember.....and to hope.*

*Have a happy Christmas

Make the World Your Classroom

In International-National Courses

Purpose: to encourage students to appreciate and understand cultural, social, political and economic aspects of Canadian as well as other national cultures.

Courses: each course consists of two parts.

1) Orientation:

an in-depth study of set themes related to the particular cultural area selected will take place at Humber College's North Campus with a minimum of 42 hours of instruction.

2) On-Location Study: after successful completion of the orientation courses, students will continue their studies on location for a specific length of time.

Eligibility

All full-time and part-time students at Humber College.

Any member of the community, provided that the applicant is over 18 years of age, may register in the program.

Registration

All students will register formally for these courses through Humber College's Centre for Continuous Learning by paying an initial fee of $100. Students may register now to January 7th, 1976. The deadline for registration is January 7th, 1976. The balance of on-location costs must be paid 30 working days prior to the departure date.

Requirements

- 1) Provide proof of OHIP Coverage for the duration of the on-location aspect of the course.
- 2) Sign a Humber College waiver form at registration.
- 3) Show proof of approved travel insurance coverage paid prior to on-location study.

ANDEAN EXPERIENCE: PERU AND ECUADOR

This course aims at providing the student with a profound cultural experience of two Andean countries, Peru and Ecuador. In addition to visiting their capitals, Lima and Quito, and various Indian settings, the course will focus on the Galapagos Islands, Cuzco and Machu Picchu, and the Amazon jungle.

Prior to the on-location study, there will be 6 all-day Saturday sessions starting in January. The orientation courses will attempt to open the minds of the students to all aspects of the culture of these countries which were once the heart of the Inca civilization and are now part of a third world seeking its place in the twentieth century.

For further information contact Larry Richard, Room H420, or telephone 676-1200, Ext. 351.

GREECE: OPTION "A"

Concentrating on the Greeks, the Minoans and other, early Mediterranean cultures, this course is a study of the transformation of early tribal cultures into what we call civilization. The sites of study in Greece will include Athens, Delphi, Crete, Mykonos and Mycenae. Tentative departure date for the three weeks on-location study programme is May 2nd, 1976.

Prior to on-site study, there will be 14 orientation sessions to run from 6:00 to 9:00 on Wednesday nights, starting in January. The orientation course will examine art and architecture, philosophy and politics, language and life style with particular emphasis on the relationship between mythology and cultural development.

For information, contact Bob Coleman, Room H423, or telephone 676-1200, Ext. 346.

GREECE AND ITALY: OPTION "B"

In the evening orientation classes, students will explore the art and architecture, philosophy and politics, geography and mythology, language and lifestyles of ancient Greece, Imperial Rome and Renaissance Italy. In the on-location section of the course, students will view the great archaeological site in Athens, Delphi, Crete, Mykonos and Rome, and study art and architecture in the world-famous galleries and palaces of Rome, Florence and Venice.

Orientation classes will begin January 14th, 1976, running on Wednesdays from 6:00 to 9:00. Emphasis of study will include the major historical, religious and art centres of Greece and Italy: the Acropolis and Agora of Athens, the fabled Palace of the Minotaur of Knossos in Crete, the Oracle of Apollo in Delphi and the Sacred Island of Delos, the Forum and Colosseum of Rome, the Renaissance art centres of Florence and the gold-gilded palaces of Venice.

On-location study will provide three weeks in Greece and two weeks in Italy. Tentative departure date is May 2nd, 1976.

For information see Walt McDayner, Room H407, or telephone 676-1200, Ext. 313.

GREAT BRITAIN: INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS

Students in this course will study and observe firsthand the Business, Political, Economic and Social environment of the British Isles and compare it with the Canadian way of life. They will also see and compare the historic sights, geography and people in England, Scotland and Ireland.

Course Format: 14 Sessions commencing January 21st, 1976.
On-Location: 28 days.

For further information contact Eric Mundingar, Business Division, 676-1200, Ext. 257.

SCOTLAND

This course provides the student with an opportunity to visit a unique community in Scotland that is researching new forms of energy that manifest themselves in palm trees growing in Northern Scotland, overlarge vegetables and new forms of human harmonies.

For further information contact: Austin Repath, Room H423, or telephone 676-1200, Ext. 346.

WAY NORTH

WITNESS the spring breakup of the Mosse River into James Bay.
SNOWSHOE, CANOE, BACKPACK in taiga country.
