HUMBER'S STONE AND HOLLYWOOD'S SINATRA

When Frank Sinatra was last in Toronto, some 25 years ago, Phil Stone, then an announcer for CHUM radio was photographed with him. Stone, now Co-ordinator of the Radio Broadcasting Program at Humber, is shown instructing Sinatra on how to hold a hockey stick. Sinatra will be at Maple Leaf Gardens this month for his second appearance in Toronto.

HUMBER RADIO STUDENTS ARE ON TOP

Cliff Lorimer, a blind student in the third-year Radio Broadcasting Program at Humber, has been selling his feature writing work to many musical publications.

Recently, Cliff also sold a taped interview to CBC Radio for inclusion in their series of Canadian Gold Rush programs.

Phil Stone, co-ordinator of the program, reports that a fifth student in Radio Broadcasting has been hired on a full-time basis by radio station CHUM in Toronto.

Susan Ferrier will be working as a copywriter on CHUM-AM. She joins Mike Kurnyk (production operator) and Nancy Krant (music librarian) on the stations' AM side. Working in FM are Edele Brickman (administrative assistant) and Don Collins (time sales).

REIDY ATTENDS SOCIAL SERVICE COUNCIL MEETING

Earl Reidy of the Creative Arts and Human Studies Division recently attended the meeting of the Youth Services Network of the Social Service Council of Metro Toronto.

Discussion took place on the possibility of introducing group homes, foster parentage and adoption regarding homosexual young people.

As a result of this meeting, a task force of social workers, lawyers, judges and psychiatrists has been formed to investigate this possibility.

FILM PREVIEW WEEK AT HUMBER'S INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS CENTRE

The Instructional Materials Centre will hold its second annual Film Preview Week from May 20th - 26th (weekend excepted).

Twelve film distributors have been invited to participate by supplying new film releases that might complement course contents from all areas.

A film list will be available from IMC prior to the Preview Week.

Only four Colleges submitted photographs in the competition, which was open to all Community Colleges in Ontario. Sixty-three of 337 submissions were accepted by judges from the Professional Photographers of Ontario. Fanshawe College of London placed first with 24 photos, Humber had 20, Oakville's Sheridan College had 13 and Loyalist College of Belleville had six accepted.

"Our students did very well," said Mike Gudz, an instructor in the Photography Program. "Of the 20 photos accepted, 17 were black and white and the others were in color."

The photos were divided into five classes and 22 categories. Richard Krever of Willowdale, a second-year student, topped the Humber group with three photos accepted. Michelle Gagnon, Barbara Barnad, Ted Lewis, and Randy Precious each had two.

The 63 photos were on display at the Skyline Hotel from May 4 - 6 at the meeting of the Professional Photographers of Ontario.

CHESTERTON GOES BACK TO TEACHING

Dave Chesterton, Chairman of Visual Arts in the Creative Arts and Human Studies Division since 1972, has handed in his resignation.

"I'd like to go back to teaching," he said. "I like more time to work with students."

Chesterton joined Humber in 1969 as a part-time instructor in Advertising and Graphic Design and the following year joined the full-time staff.

"I had been thinking about going back to the classroom for the past year," said Chesterton. "I made my decision before Christmas and submitted my resignation just recently."

Chesterton said he has enjoyed being Chairman but wants to spend more time with his family.

Staff speak out!

QUESTION: ARE YOU CONCERNED WITH PROBLEMS IN THE WORLD TODAY?

Yes. I am concerned about the major problems, mainly the food question. I would like to see better redistribution of the wealth to third world countries. I am concerned about the problem of peace, of course. As a Canadian I am concerned about the awareness of this country in relation to these problems and the participation of the citizens in the solutions. I feel that Canada should continue and increase its efforts in foreign aid, and should not stop immigration from countries where there is a need, be it economic or political. We are so hypocritical in pretending to be humanitarians and allowing hundreds of thousands of children to die of starvation.

Alberto DiGiovanni
Humber-York Centre

Yes. I see the problem as lack of faith in governments' ability to govern in these changing times, which means that survival of the fittest is now back in fashion. Maybe it is just as well.

Bill Wells
Economic Instructor
North Campus

NOT AVAILABLE

FOR PHOTOGRAPHY

Yes, but I'm even more concerned with the social implications of the happenings. For example, the change of values and priorities needed to cope with these happenings.

Ruth McLean
Academic Upgrading

Recently at the workshop on the Counselling of Women, I was amazed, amused and alarmed. AMAZED at the many capable women in the helping role who felt good about themselves and were able to talk openly. AMUSED that the choice in drinks for the majority was gin and tonic. ALARMED at the risk of indiscreetly counselling clients in exercising ones own rights OUT of social context. Far away from the traditionalists, well into the liberationists, I'd like to see us move into the humanists.

Marilyn Greaves
Nursing Instructor
Quo Vadis Campus

Yes. I think if one aims to be authentically human, one must drive to develop a social consciousness, which should then logically lead to some type of social action. Really, aren't we all inhabitants of a global village?

New graduates are faced not only with inflation and recession, but the distinct possibility of unemployment. They receive extensive training in vocations for which their already exist a surplus of equally qualified applicants.

TRAVEL AGENCY CLOSES AT HUMBER COLLEGE

The Travel and Tourism Agency at Humber College has been closed because of Provincial legislation and regulations governing the travel agency field.

"We have to close the Agency because it cannot be owned or operated by a non-profit organization and Humber is classed as that under the 1974 Travel Industry Act," said Bob Davidson, Chairman of Humber's Travel, Leisure and Fashion Programs.

The Agency first opened in 1972 as a laboratory for students in the two-year Travel and Tourism Program. It also catered to the travel needs of full and part-time staff and students at Humber's nine campuses.

"Although we were considered to be money making," said Davidson, "Some commissions were made, otherwise, we broke even."

Fred Manson, Dean of the Applied Arts Division, said he was sorry to see the Agency close.

"I regret to see this happen because it did provide realistic experience and training for students under professional supervisors," said Manson.

HUMBER GRADUATES RETURN FOR REUNION

April was reunion month for many former graduates of Humber College.

Alumni from the Recreation Leadership Program met on April 26th, while graduates of the Business Administration Program held a reunion on April 11th.

HUMBER FASHION MODELS TOUR CANADA

The Humber Fashion Modelling Program was involved in a major all-Canadian soap commercial.

Norma Piotrowicz, Co-ordinator of the Program and three students - Denise Scapinello, Caron Zardo and Denise McLeod were on a country-wide tour to promote Borateen Plus.

The four women visited Vancouver, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary, Winnipeg, Hamilton, Montreal, Moncton and St. John's, Newfoundland to stage a fashion show for the United States Borax Company featuring clothes from Canadian designers.

All expenses were paid by the McCann Erikson Advertising Agency.

SUMMER CONVOCATION '75

Humber's Summer Convocation will be split into three days next month.

"Because of the large number of graduates in the Summer, we'll need three days," said Humber Registrar, Fred Embree.

It will also be the first time that nursing students at Osler and Quo Vadis will graduate at the Humber ceremonies.

Many places were considered as sites for Convocation including the Auditorium at the Lakeshore I Campus and the nearby Westwood Arena.

This year, the ceremonies will be held in the Equine Centre at the North Campus.

The final dates for Convocation are:

- Wed. June 11 - 7:30 p.m. - Applied Arts & Technology
- Thurs. June 12 - 7:30 p.m. - Creative Arts and Business
- Sat. June 14 - 2:30 p.m. - Health Sciences

VALUE FOR MONEY IN EDUCATION

York University President Ian Macdonald has joined the growing debate on the future of Ontario's universities with a sensible proposal. In a speech this week he called for a national conference to re-examine the place of higher education in society and set new goals for it.

"I believe we must determine the proper goals and objectives for the modern university, design the most effective means of achieving those goals, and then seek the resources to carry out those means," Macdonald said. "I believe that we can convince the public and governments, but we will have to work at it."

Working at it will have to include getting rid of all the hand-wringing and doom-saying that has been going on lately in education circles in response to government determination to limit the public costs of education. There is a problem to be faced.

Over the past 15 years the taxpayer's burden for post-secondary education alone has risen from $13 per head a year to $140. Overall, education is taking up a third of the provincial budget. The government and the public at large are right to raise questions about this trend, and it is from education institutions themselves that we should expect answers.

The primary question has been raised by James Auld, Minister of Colleges and Universities, in his call for higher university admission standards as a means of cutting enrolments. The question is whether the correct principle that everyone who can benefit from higher education is entitled to it has not become a false assumption that a university education is a universal right.

Macdonald questions Auld's view, arguing that Ontario is still a long way from the goal of equality of educational opportunity and this is true. But at the same time he cautions against confusing elitism with merit. Universities should not be elitist institutions, he says, "but they must be places of merit."

This is the essential case for higher admission standards, for there is little doubt that standards have been allowed to fall in recent years. To a large extent this is due to the provincial government's own financing formula for the universities and colleges. By linking their funding to the number of students enrolled, Ontario encourages them to go out and corral every student they can lay a rope on.

But whose interests does this serve? Certainly not the taxpayers'. And not society's, as the quality of university training steadily diminishes. And not the students' either — they come out of the system with the same diplomas that mean less and less in real knowledge and training.

The reassessment of post-secondary education should begin with acceptance of the fact that academic studies are not for everyone. We can then get rid of the obsession with university education as such and consider the whole problem in terms of students in our universities today, plodding conventionally along in boredom and frustration for the sake of a devalued diploma, who would be far happier and more productive in a technical school, an applied arts course, or simply training to be first-rate mechanics.

Proper admission standards and testing, not only for universities but for all kinds of post-secondary training, are not a matter of designating a social elite, but of guiding young people into their best area of effective achievement.

TO THE EDITOR:

We want to thank those in the Community Studies Program of Humber College for the excellent courses they provided our community of Warren Park.

Our members are enthusiastic about this kind of educational assistance. We feel we have made great progress in understanding our own community, the planning process and the methods of study and research needed to solve community problems.

The Community Studies courses and this method of teaching and community learning helped our whole neighborhood solve a problem that had frustrated our community for years and for many of us was an enlightening experience. We are proud of our Community Report and will follow through on the areas for improvement mentioned in it.

TO THE EDITOR

The RANDA Division is no more. Since day one, Humber has had an Academic Division incorporating the names Retraining or Manpower and Apprenticeship.

Over the years this Division has grown from approximately 500 students to being the largest Division of the College with over 1700 full-time day students and over 100 part-timers.

It's always sad to say goodbye to a trusty old name — but now it's "So Long RANDA - Hello Humber Lakeshore". If you think Colleges aren't changing — come and see us.

TO THE EDITOR

Re: The story titled "The New Look of Humber Happenings" on page 7 of Volume 2, Number 1 (April edition).

Humber Happenings is a well designed publication and you are to be congratulated for bringing what started as a faculty information Newsletter on May 1st, 1969, to its present state of excellence.

The purpose of the original Newsletter was to inform the staff about the development of policies and curricula as well as to keep them in touch with the social life of the college.

When the job of producing the Newsletter was taken over, by Doris Tallon, the name was changed to Humber Happenings. The tone of the publication also changed from emphasis on information regarding college policies which mainly concerned administrators and teaching faculty, to a broader and more social function which included all members of the college community.

NIXON MAKES PROMISE AT HUMBER

Robert Nixon, leader of the Liberal Party of Ontario, told a crowd of faculty, staff and students at Humber College, that he promises to change the present "irresponsible system of financing post-secondary education."

"The Davis Government is irresponsible," said Nixon. "They shouldn't have changed the financing base of post-secondary education without warning."

Nixon promised a five-year plan for education financing which would allow both input from the system itself and allow it to plan rationally over a longer period.

He told the audience that he doesn't think staff of essential services have a right to strike, but teachers should have rights to negotiate with their employers and not the government.

Nixon answered a question concerning liquor laws in Ontario by saying, "My party understands the liquor laws should be liberalized. I would like to have less advertising for liquor and beer. I'm tired of seeing the beer commercials with the 'Big Blue Balloon', (indicating the Conservative Government) I think this balloon is bursting, and then it has to come down, and come down fast."

SINGLE FAMILY DWELLING TO BE THING OF PAST SAYS DANSON

Barney Danson, Federal Minister of State for Urban Affairs, told a Community Studies class at Humber College that single family dwellings will be a thing of the past in a few years.

"One of the options of living in a large city like Toronto or Montreal is the availability of housing," he said. "A single family house with a private lot will be a thing of the past. High density, not high rise, is what we're going for."

Danson also said that Canadian cities will become unmanageable if current population trends are allowed to continue.

He added if Toronto is allowed to expand, it will be at the expense of the rest of the country, creating political, economic and social problems.

"If the trends continue, half the population of Canada will live in Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver," said Danson to a class of students.

Danson said in order to prevent this, the federal government wants to develop a national policy, in consultation with the provinces and municipalities in order to balance the growth pattern.

He said the federal government has great power through location of building and transport systems and various other federal policies to influence city growth. But the provinces have the ultimate planning authority.

LEWIS ATTACKS CONSERVATIVE GOVERNMENT

Stephen Lewis told a group of staff and students at Humber College recently that the Government of Ontario has created difficulties for the post-secondary educational system.

"The students, the faculty and the community are all being affected by decisions made by the Davis Government," said Lewis, leader of the New Democratic Party of Ontario.

Lewis commented on certain budget cutbacks at Humber.

"The Community College system was established to provide comfort and support for those leaving high school and to reach the community," he said. "It is ultimate irony that the one College in Ontario, Humber, which has taken the mandate of reaching the community most seriously will be penalized."

Lewis said his party wouldn't allow it to happen.

"If you are going to plan an education system you do it over the long term and you involve the administration, faculty and students," he said. "And most important, you don't have compulsory cutbacks of faculty and staff from year to year. This is an election year. When you cast your ballot think of the past and also the future."

RELOCATE IN ONTARIO SAYS TORY MP

Flora MacDonald says steps should be taken to stop growth in the Toronto area.

The federal Progressive Conservative housing critic told a group of people at Humber recently that the federal and provincial government will have to relocate industry in other parts of Ontario if an acute housing shortage is to be avoided.

"Where industry goes, people go," she said. "And houses will have to be built where people go."

Miss MacDonald, a member of Parliament for Kingston and the Islands, said the population of Toronto is expected to be about seven million people by the year 2000.

"No one has asked Toronto if it wants seven million people," she said.

In recent speaking engagements across Ontario, Miss MacDonald has shown concern in seeking the leadership of the Progressive Conservative Party.

NEW APPOINTMENTS AT HUMBER LAKESHORE

Over the past few years, the Retraining and Apprenticeship Division has almost doubled the number of students it serves each year.

As a result of this growth and the development of the Humber Lakeshore Complex, the roles of five staff members have been expanded significantly.

Gus King will become Dean of Business and Applied Arts, and Al Picard, Dean of Technology.

The Director of Academic Services will be Bill Sinnett and Gus King is from Evanston, Nova Scotia and received his Bachelor of Science Degree from St. Francis Xavier University in Antigonish, N.S.

Gus worked for Steep Rock Iron Mines in Atikokan and Patino Mining in Chibougamou, Quebec as a Mine Geologist.

He came to Humber in 1968 as Supervisor of Physics/Chemistry in RANDA. In 1969, he was appointed Assistant Chairman in Academic Studies and in 1971 became Chairman of Academic and Commercial Studies.

Bill Sinnett was an instructor in the Manpower Retraining Program in Mimico in 1965 and three years later joined Humber when the program was amalgamated with the College.

Bill received his Bachelor of Arts Degree from Queen's University in Kingston. Born in St. Catherines, he taught high school in Belleville and Ottawa and is now completing his M. Ed. in Curriculum at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education.

In 1970, Bill was appointed Science Supervisor for RANDA and a year later he became Assistant Chairman of Academic Studies. Bill was appointed Co-ordinator of the RANDA Program Development Centre in 1973.

Tom Norton has been with Humber since 1968 in a variety of capacities including Dean of the former Retraining and Apprenticeship Division.

Born in Hamilton and now a resident of Oakville, Tom is an honors graduate in history, receiving his Bachelor of Arts Degree from the University of Western Ontario in London.

Bill Holmes was born in Toronto and attended St. Michael's College. He received his Bachelor of Arts Degree from Assumption College of the University of Western Ontario in Windsor in 1951.

Bill worked as a general insurance agent for five years in Toronto before teaching elementary school in Brampton. He later taught secondary school in Walkerton and Oakville and adult retraining for the Lakeshore, Etobicoke and Oshawa Boards of Education.

Bill joined Humber in 1968 as a mathematics instructor and in 1971 became Senior Program Co-ordinator at Humber's Keele Campus. In 1973, Bill was appointed Chairman of Administration at Keele.

Harry Kilty will take over as Director of Administrative Services. The Chairman of Academic Upgrading and the Keele Campus is Bill Holmes. Tom Norton is the Principal of Humber Lakeshore.

These title changes do not represent a change in the numbers of administrative staff as there are no new jobs being created.

The next edition of Humber Happenings will have a complete report of the Lakeshore Complex.

Al Picard, a native of Edmundston, New Brunswick, was an instructor in electricity at the Canadian Army Trade School in Hamilton from 1941 to 1945.

He has held various positions in industrial maintenance electrician and maintenance superintendent. Al also developed and taught the first industrial electronics control course at the Provincial Institute of Trades.

Al joined Humber in 1968 as Assistant Chairman of Apprenticeship Programs and was later that year promoted to Chairman of Technical and Apprenticeship Programs.

Harry Kilty came to Humber College in 1968 after 12 years as Plant and General Accountant with Canada Packers.

He was appointed Office Manager-Accountant for RANDA in that year and in 1970 was given the title of Bursar for the same division.

FELDMAN JOINS TORONTO STAR AS MARKETING MANAGER

Michael Feldman has resigned as Director of Information Services at Humber College to take a position with The Toronto Star.

Feldman will become Marketing Manager of ROP Display Advertising, Inserts and Special Sections for Canada's largest daily newspaper.

He joined the Humber staff in 1969 and has prepared more than 1,500 publications about Humber as well as establishing many unique approaches to meet the marketing objectives of the College.

Feldman was responsible for a major list of accomplishments over the years including several College open houses, the only Toronto Star Spectacolour coverage ever done for a Community College as well as brochures, flyers, posters, displays and exhibits.

HUMBER TRANSPORTATION DRIVERS RECEIVE AWARDS

Don McLean, Manager of Transportation presented outstanding awards for 26 years of safe driving to Bert Pyle and Joe Miceli. Bill Obelnicki received an award for 22 years.

Other presentations for commercial vehicle drivers went to: Tom Little, for 19 years; Terry McCarthy, for 17 years; Doug Hughes, Jim MacNeil and Jack Nicklin for 11 years; Jim Stanto, for 12 years, Wilf Halbeleib, for 10 years; and Ray Kalio, for 1 year.

McLean also said that insurance rates went down on the buses, at least $1,000 last year because his department has an excellent safety record.

Transporting students to and from school is only one part of the drivers' job. Numerous field trips, daily mail runs and equipment moving also fill their schedule.

Mr. McLean also made a gift presentation to Brian Polland who has left after 15 months with the transportation department.

SMITH BECOMES DIRECTOR OF INFORMATION SERVICES

Ian Smith, former Secondary School Liaison Officer, is the new Director of Information Services.

Smith came to Humber in February of 1974 from Wilfred Laurier University in Waterloo and has played a major role in recruiting students to take post-secondary courses at Humber.

Smith went to Earl Haig Secondary School in North York and received his Bachelor of Arts Degree in 1971 from WLU. He is currently making final revisions to his thesis before graduating with his MA in Geography and Regional Planning.

Before coming to Humber, Smith was employed by Wilfred Laurier as an Admissions and Secondary School Liaison Officer. During his second year as Liaison, he was elected Chairman of the Ontario Association of University Liaison Officers.

VISITING ISRAELIS TOUR HUMBER COLLEGE

Six students from Israel visited Humber College last month as part of a Group Study Exchange to Canada.

The visit was made possible by Rotary International which consists of rotary clubs around the world.

Ed Brook, Community Services Chairman of the Rotary Club of Etobicoke, said the group had an opportunity to visit and explore educational, cultural, business and industrial areas of Etobicoke.

FIVE TIMES A YEAR

Humber Happenings will now publish five times a year.

The College magazine will have editions printed in Spring (April), Summer (June), Fall (September), Christmas (November) and Winter (February).

All contributions should be submitted through Divisional Contributing Reporters to the Director of College Relations no later than the 11th day of the month preceding publication date.

FOUNDATION TO INSPECT FARMHOUSE

The Ontario Heritage Foundation will be sending a representative to look at the farmhouse located at Humber College's North Campus.

A decision will then be made on whether the farmhouse has historical and architectural importance. Last month, a letter was sent to the OHF recommending that the 100-year old building be restored.

Doug Scott, former Dean of Student Services at Humber and now on special assignments for the President, said Humber would pay for its everyday use and the Foundation grant would pay for the renovation to restore the building to the original architectural design.

The land on which the farmhouse is located, was bought by the College for $533,000 from the owner, according to Gordon Wragg, President of Humber.

Bob Chapman, who is now retired, farmed the land with his brother from 1920 until 1968. He raised cattle and sheep.

The farmhouse is located on 12 acres facing the river valley at the corner of Humber College Boulevard and Highway 27.

GUESS WHAT?

On the front cover there are 16 photographs of scenes from Humber's eight campuses. Can you guess the name of the campus in each photo? The answers can be found on page 15.

SHORTAGE OF SUMMER JOBS ACCORDING TO TO CANADA MANPOWER

Students at Humber who are looking for summer jobs should get something lined up in the near future, according to Canada Manpower's Etobicoke Branch.

Maurice Coady of the Etobicoke Branch of Canada Manpower days indications point to a decrease in the number of jobs available to students this summer.

This shortage is due to increased population and greater competition from "the expanded numbers of unemployed young people".

Canada Manpower will do its part to help the students by setting up 300 Student Manpower Centres across Canada. These centres will allocate 20 per cent of all jobs available this summer. The centres will also provide information on Federal and Provincial Government summer employment projects.

1500 MORE APPLICATIONS EXPECTED BEFORE SEPTEMBER '75

Fred Embree, Registrar, reports "We are receiving applications at an average of some 50 per day and expect this rate to continue well into the summer.

We have over 1,800 confirmed students for the FALL '75 semester and are looking for 1,500 more between now and September.

Although the comparative picture between this year and last year looks most favourable, we are still concerned that everyone should be aware of the many opportunities still available at Humber."

Humber offers more than 100 career programs, many of them unique in Ontario, and this offers students an excellent opportunity to investigate potential careers from a wide range of studies.

$500,000 BURSARY FUND SET-UP FOR PART-TIME STUDENTS

The provincial Government has announced a new student loan program and the creation of a $500,000 special bursary fund to assist impoverished part-time students.

James Auld, Minister of Colleges and Universities, also told the Legislature that maximum student living allowances under the existing Ontario Student Assistance Program will increase next fall from $48.50 to $57.50 a week.

The Ontario Federation of Students described the OSAP increases as inadequate to cover inflation, but welcomed the bursary fund as a "step in the right direction" in student assistance.

The new Ontario Student Loans Plan will enable a student to borrow at low interest up to $1,400 each academic year. to a maximum of $4,000.

It is aimed at helping part-time students, those taking courses to qualify for university programs, students who have already borrowed the maximum allowed under the Canada Student Loans Plan and those who don't qualify for the federal assistance. (From Min. C. & U.)

STUDENTS NEED HOUSING

The Housing Office has a shortage of accommodation for students who will be attending Humber in September.

"We may have a serious crisis in our hands in the Fall when hundreds of students from across the city, Ontario and Canada come here for classes and need a place to live", said Mary Harrington.

Those interested in renting a room or flat or willing to offer both room and board should call Mary Harrington at 676-1200, extension 520. The Housing Office also requires overnight accommodation for one and two day periods.

LESS VANDALISM AT HUMBER

Len Wallace, Manager of Maintenance, says there was only $1,500.00 in damage this year at six campuses of Humber.

Thefts from lockers in the change rooms at the bubble were higher than expected with a $150.00 diamond ring and $50.00 in cash being stolen. Sign lettering was also stolen from the Lakeshore I Campus.

According to Wallace, there was less vandalism this year than any other year. Also, the number of items found increased. A wallet with $150.00 was turned in to Security.

AROUND OTHER CAMPUSES

Tuition fees will rise by about 50 per cent next year at McGill University and will double within two years according to a recent story in the MC GILL DAILY . . . Ryerson Polytechnical Institute is once again acting as a model for an overseas college. This time it's the business administration faculty that are involved in providing a guiding hand for Beit Berl College in Israel. Ryerson is also currently acting as a model for a new Institute of Technology being built in Costa Rica . . . The newspaper at Conestoga College in Kitchener says film students made a war movie that included complete war battle explosions and props provided by the Canadian Armed Forces. The paper, SPOKE, says the movie "More Fun Than Killing Babies" is a satire on war and was completed last month . . . The United States has become the greatest supplier of foreign students to Ryerson according to the schools' assistant director of Student Services. Susan Wieczorek said it used to be a toss-up between the Caribbean and Southeast Asia. She said most U.S. students were taking the Photo Arts or Radio and Television Arts programs . . . A Forestry student at the Kelsey Institute of Arts and Sciences who had his marks lowered because of an article he wrote in the campus paper has won an appeal to have the marks upgraded to their original level. The student, according to a story in THE SHEAF newspaper at the University of Saskatchewan, condemned U.S. imperialist control of Saskatchewan forestry industry and criticized the school for not teaching students anything about who controlled the forest industry . . . Students in Ryerson's third year Interior Design Program are working with architects for the Toronto Board of Education redesigning schools. Essex and Ryerson public schools and Harbord Collegiate are being looked at to determine what additions, renovations and re-building can be done to them . . . A proposal to eliminate first year classes at Algonquin College in Ottawa has been shelved by the college board of governors pending release of an independent study of the school's financial position. About 450 teachers and students attended a recent board meeting ready to call a college-wide strike if the board voted to suspend first year enrolment for the 1975-76 school year. Board members hope a statement recently by the Minister of Colleges and Universities James Auld, that such measures would not be acceptable means more provincial aid is being considered. The board's financial committee had accepted an administration proposal to save $3 million during the next academic year by closing the doors to 2,400 students and firing 150 staff members. The board members called the scheme an abomination and a disaster for the college . . . James Auld, Minister of Colleges and Universities said recently that the University of Windsor will receive a 22.2 million dollar operating grant for the next year which is an increase of 18.2 per cent. The announcement was printed in a story in the universities paper, THE LANCE. Included in the figure is a supplementary grant of $720,000 . . . Four members of the Board of Governors at the University of Quebec resigned recently to protest policy changes implemented by the university administration. The four consisted of three professors and one student . . . A group of first-year students from McGill University and Vanier and Dawson Colleges organized a major symposium on the quality and quantity of sources of drug information for health care workers. The symposium was held at the McGill medical school.

1975 COLLEGES CONFERENCE

Seneca College will host the 1975 Metro Colleges Conference on May 27-29 at its King Campus.

Seventy-five conference seats per day have been allocated to each College. Frank Willock of Humber's Professional Development Department says the conference is designed for all teaching faculty although the event is open to all staff.

"All the Colleges in the Metro area have combined to financially sponsor, plan and conduct this event," said Willock. "The King Campus was chosen as the site because its facilities lend to this kind of event."

Registration is free and lunch is provided at no charge to conference participants. Transportation will have to be arranged by those attending.

This conference, held every two years, is being considered as part of the annual Spring (May-June) Professional Development sessions at Humber College. New teachers may count participation in the Seneca event as part of the 30 hours or seminars they are required to attend during their first year of employment at Humber.

Tom Norton and Bill Sinnett of Humber Lakeshore will provide a description of the Aristotle project which is aimed at designing, developing, implementing and evaluating a computer managed instructional system. Other Humber members involved include Bill Thompson, Colin Woodrow, Mike Jones and Willock of Pro Dev and Herman Suligog of Human Studies.

More than 30 topics will be dealt with at the three-day event.

SUMMER CAMPS FOR CHILDREN

Humber College will be conducting two summer camps for children at its North Campus in Rexdale.

Camp Lotsa Fun is an on-Campus day camp for children between the ages of 5½ and 12. Program activities like arts, and crafts, sports, camping, nature walks and many more will be offered during the 10-week period.

The camp will be run Monday to Friday between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. beginning on June 23rd and lasting until August 29th.

Weekly registration priority is given to children of parents taking courses during the summer.

This six-week summer day camp begins on July 2nd and is limited to 25 children. The fee is $50.00 for 80 sessions from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday to Friday.

For more information on either of the two summer camps for children write or visit the Centre for Continuous Learning at Humber College or call 678-9195.

STUDENT FILM ON COMMUNICATION ART PROGRAMS

The 17-minute film will be shown to students entering the Communication Arts programs in May.

COMMUNITY INTERESTED IN HUMBER'S CENTRE FOR LABOUR STUDIES

More than 40 people registered for the initial evening course offered by the Centre for Labour Studies at Humber College. The purpose of the Centre is to meet the educational and leadership development needs of the labour movement in Metropolitan Toronto.

The Centre for Labour Studies will sponsor, organize and conduct a certificate program in Labour Studies, non-credit courses, and weekend as well as summer workshops around labour issues of concern.

The part-time course runs Tuesday evenings from 7:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. until June 10th. A registration fee of $40.00 covers the entire course.

Some of the issues to be examined are Structure of Labour Movement, Human Relations and Social Values, Political Evolution of the Working Class and Labour Leadership in the community.

Guest speakers include Louis Lenkinski, Administrative Assistant of the Ontario Federation of Labour; Gord Wilson, Education Director of the United Automobile Workers of America and Ed Gentle of the Canadian Union of Public employees.

For more information call, write or visit Joe Grogan, Co-ordinator of the Centre for Labour Studies at Humber College, 676-1200, ext. 481.

INSTRUCTORS ASK INDUSTRY TO JOIN ASSOCIATION

A new association of floor covering instructors is appealing to manufacturers and distributors to join them in an advisory capacity to supply technical information on products and techniques.

The Canadian Association of Floor Covering Instructors offers, for its part, the help of its membership in solving problems an individual member may encounter.

Eligible for advisory membership, at no fee, are manufacturing and distributors of floor covering products and representatives of provincial or federal governments or apprenticeship agencies responsible for floor covering programs.

The association aims to standardize training programs across Canada, upgrade quality of instruction, establish inter-provincial examinations for retraining, apprentice and journeyman upgrading programs; institute floor covering programs in Quebec and Manitoba where none now exists, and set up a national floor covering training competition.

The President of the new association is Ben Chapman, an instructor in the Carpet Installation Program at Humber College. Syd White, also from Humber, is secretary-treasurer.

The 24-week apprenticeship program offered by Humber was the first course of its kind in Canada.

In September, a two-year Floor Covering Marketing Program will begin for students interested in the history, theories and practice of the industry.

HUMBER FINISHES SECOND IN MARKETING COMPETITION

Students from Humber College have finished in the finals of the Industrial Marketers of Toronto competition for the fourth consecutive year.

The Humber team of Gord Schofield, Pat Borg, Peter Madot, Valerie La Touche and Carla Tucci placed second to George Brown College. Other schools in the competition were Centennial, Seneca and Sheridan Colleges, Ryerson Polytechnical Institute and York University.

Each team had three hours to prepare an analysis of and solution to the case study of the Barney Corporation. The Barney Corporation is an American company engaged in the production of metal alloys for sophisticated technological uses in aerospace, aircraft, nuclear power and automotive industries.

The teams were then judged by a panel of three who had to select two finalists to compete for the General Electric Trophy.

The judges were Jack McGurn of the International Nickel Company of Canada, W.R. Emond of Xerox Canada Limited and C.T. Hambley of Du Pont of Canada.

George Brown and Humber were picked for an evening presentation before IMT members, guests and three new judges, V.V. Murray of York University, Bruce McKay of Alcan Products of Canada and Robert Lane of Canadian General Electric.

Offering a critique of the solutions on behalf of his colleagues, Prof. Murray said that while Humber had covered a wider range of problems, including pricing policy, distribution and organization, they had perhaps placed insufficient emphasis on what the judges considered the prime problem-organization.

This George Brown did. "Their suggestion of a staff and line approach, however, with product managers and new departments for research and development, marketing research, sales and promotion all under the direction of a marketing manager might be loading too much responsibility on one person," said Murray. "We wondered why so little mention was made of top management by either the case study or the teams."

The program was received with enthusiasm by IMT members, educators, and competitors alike. "Anyone looking for new marketing staff," said Carl Lovell, "would do well to consider the day's competitors."

Nevertheless, no doubt speaking for all competitors, one student remarked that "after today, I don't think I'll ever name a child Barney."

Humber has now won two IMT competitions and placed second in the other two. Don Sbrolla, Byron Collins, Gerry Byers, Eric Munding (Dean) and John Liphardt from the Business Division attended the evening part of the competition.

Information, where it counts!
 Several funeral directors have found the guidance counsellor at their local high school is poorly equipped to inform students regarding a future in funeral service. Although brochures mailed to all Boards of Education in the province, quite often they do not reach the man that counts—the collegiate vocational guidance counsellor.
 The shortage of licensed men is no secret. As a funeral director with an interest in the future supply of trained men, here is one area where you can assist. Approach your local collegiate vocational counsellor, and see that he has the proper information regarding funeral service. If he is lacking information, you can write Humber College directly, and ask for a supply of the booklet "Funeral Service Education Program", then deliver them to the guidance counsellor.

CREPES "PRIDE OF NOVA SCOTIA"

Recipe: 20 crepes.

Crepes Mixture

8 oz. all purpose flour	1 oz. dry Sherry
1 tsp. salt	3/4 pint soda water
3 med. size eggs	4 oz. butter
2 yolks

Method

Sift flour and salt together. Beat the eggs, egg yolks and sherry. Mix flour and egg mixture until well combined. Add soda water gradually to avoid lumps. Strain mixture through a wire sieve. Add 1 oz. melted butter to the crepe mixture. Cook thin crepes on both sides in a well buttered pan.

Ingredients for Seafood Crepe Filling

8 oz. scallops	1/3 cup finely chopped onion
4 oz. lobster meat	1/4 cup finely chopped celery
6 oz. crabmeat	1 cup chopped mushrooms
8 oz. shrimp (peeled)	2 oz. butter
1/2 cup white wine	1/8 tsp. basil
2 oz. whiskey	1/2 tsp. white pepper
1 tbs. salt	Beurre manie (thickening agent- 2 oz. softened butter-1 oz. flour)
1/4 tsp. mace	2 egg yolks
1/8 tsp. thyme (powdered)	1 cup 35% cream
1/8 tsp. marjoram (powdered)	1 lb. Canadian Cheddar Cheese (shredded)

Method

In saucepan melt butter and add onion, celery, mushrooms and saute lightly, add scallops and shrimps and cook for 3 minutes. Add canned lobster meat with its liquids and crab meat. Also add white wine, whiskey, lemon juice, salt and herbs and spices and bring mixture to a boil. Add beurre manie and quickly thicken the seafood mixture. Finish with beaten egg yolks and 35% cream. Bring to a boil and remove from heat. Correct seasoning if required. Fill crepes with the seafood mixture, fold and put in a buttered pan. Pour over 1 qt. Sauce Bechamel and sprinkle with the grated Canadian Cheddar cheese. Place under hot broiler to melt the cheese, and serve at once.

Sauce Bechamel

Basic white sauce. Yield 1 quart.

Ingredients

4 oz. butter)	roux	1 qt. milk brought to a boil with medium sized onion studded with 8 whole cloves and 1 bay leaf, salt and white pepper to taste.
4 oz. flour)
4 oz. dry sherry
1/4 tsp. mace

JAWORSKI RETURNS TO FILMS

Tad Jaworski is taking a one-year leave of absence from teaching to work on films.

Jaworski, an instructor in the Cinematography Program, has been at Humber for four years.

He teaches theory and history of cinema to first-year students and directing to second and third-year students.

Jaworski started his career in film more than 30 years ago in Europe and has since worked in Hollywood with directors including John Ford and Roman Polanski. He is currently working on a project for Universal Studios in Los Angeles.
