UNIVERSITY OF GUELPH
 HUMBER

The University of Guelph-Humber building received the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada 2005 Award of Excellence for innovation in architecture. The bio-filter plant wall (above) was featured in the 2007 Doors Open Toronto event for their "green" theme.

Vice-Provost's Welcome A Combination for Success

The University of Guelph-Humber is an innovative and exciting educational opportunity in Toronto, and builds on the combined strengths of the University of Guelph and Humber College Institute of Technology and Advanced Learning – two of Ontario's leading educational institutions.

The University of Guelph-Humber provides a university education, integrating the advanced theory of an honours degree with the applied knowledge and professional training of a college diploma – all in just four years! It is this combination that creates the University of Guelph-Humber academic advantage.

Our programs have been designed to meet the emerging demands of employers for strategic skills including critical thinking, computer expertise, and leadership. Faculty from both the University of Guelph and Humber College Institute of Technology and Advanced Learning have consulted with industry leaders to develop a rigorous curriculum that prepares students for the world of work or further study at the graduate or professional level.

You will be part of a small university community, gaining experience that prepares you for the professional world through career placements and industry-linked projects.

The University of Guelph-Humber combines the best of both worlds, preparing you to meet the challenges of the future.

I wish you the best in your educational pursuits.

Dr. John Walsh
 Vice-Provost

Innovation

A Unique Integration of Theory and Experience in a State-of-the-Art Facility

Why the Name “University of Guelph-Humber”?

The name “University of Guelph-Humber” was chosen to reflect and build upon the strong reputations and traditions of the University of Guelph and Humber Institute of Technology and Advanced Learning (Humber). As a result of our innovative facility and unique program offerings, students at the University of Guelph-Humber possess a distinct identity and culture. We are proud to bear the names of two institutions that consistently demonstrate merit and innovation.

Why Students Choose the University of Guelph-Humber.

Students choose to study at the University of Guelph-Humber for a variety of reasons. Here are just a few:

- The ability to earn a university honours degree and a college diploma in just four years.
- Small class sizes where students and faculty can learn from one another.
- The opportunity for combining theory with practical applications in a specialized area of study.
- The ability to gain workplace experience within your program of study.
- The chance to live and learn in Toronto – Canada’s largest and most diverse city.

From the design of the specialized labs and study spaces to the creation of our programs and curriculum, the University of Guelph-Humber offers a distinct, new option in higher education.

The Facility

Almost all of our classrooms are designed for 30-65 students, and our two largest lecture halls seat 125 students – allowing for dynamic classroom interaction. Study locations throughout campus support group work and discussion.

The $30 million facility is custom-made for the unique program offerings and interactive learning at the University of Guelph-Humber. A broadcast studio with state-of-the-art sound equipment, a photography studio, and a moot courtroom are among some of the unique features available to our students for practical learning. A resource lab equipped with educational tools for children and multiple computer labs equipped with the latest technology are also a part of our innovative learning environment.

The University of Guelph-Humber building boasts a stunning-four storey atrium complete with a skylight and a living plant wall which serves as a bio-filter purifying the air circulated throughout the building. Innovative learning spaces, an internet café, wireless access throughout the building, and space to relax and meet with friends are some of the additional features incorporated into the design of the building.

Academic Advantage

The Best of Both Worlds

"Degree-diploma programs offer a competitive edge...The combination of hands-on training and critical thinking skills is expected to be the way of the future." Globe and Mail

"I am pleased to see these two great institutions working together to provide students with a new option in higher education." Chuck Ealey, Regional Manager, Investors Group

The University of Guelph-Humber is a collaboration between two institutions – the University of Guelph and Humber. You will take all of your courses at the University of Guelph-Humber building in Toronto, receiving a university honours degree and a college diploma after four years of full-time study. All of the courses at the University of Guelph-Humber were designed to meet the specific learning outcomes of this initiative by integrating hands-on experiences throughout the curriculum. Each course offered at the University of Guelph-Humber is approved and taught at the university level.

The University of Guelph-Humber Advantage

Honours Degree

An honours degree provides access to professional schools and graduate programs, and typically takes four years of full-time study to complete. Students who complete an honours degree have studied knowledge and theory in a broad area (e.g. Arts, Applied Science, Business Administration), focusing a designated number of courses in one or more areas of emphasis (e.g. Media, Early Childhood, Business).

Diploma

A diploma signifies a hands-on, career-focused education. Students who complete a diploma program have mastered practical skills and applied knowledge related to a chosen field (e.g. Fitness and Health Promotion, Law and Security Administration).

Workplace Experience Before You Graduate

Every program provides an opportunity for workplace experience – connecting classroom learning to the real world. Exposure to the professional world allows you to establish important contacts with potential employers before you graduate.

The type of workplace experience varies across each program and may be in the form of a practicum or volunteer placement, internship, or research project. These opportunities are designed to meet the unique needs of each program's curriculum. For information on program specific workplace experiences, see pages 19 – 32.

“Not only does the workplace experience built within our programs provide our students with an unbeatable opportunity to apply what they have learned in the classroom, but these experiences have proven to give our students the competitive edge when applying to positions after graduation.” Catherine Salole Pierre-Louis, Manager, Student Life, Career and Alumni Services

Important Facts About Our Founding Institutions

- The University of Guelph has been consistently ranked as a top comprehensive university in Canada by alumni and Maclean's magazine.

Community

A Small University Experience in a Great City

The Campus

The University of Guelph-Humber community is made up of a diverse and vibrant population of 2,436 students. Small class sizes and an intimate learning environment provide you with a valuable and unique learning experience. While the University of Guelph-Humber has its own distinct and innovative facility, its location on Humber's North Campus means that University of Guelph-Humber students are part of a larger community of nearly 13,000 full-time students as well.

The Greater Toronto Area

Toronto is a dynamic place to live and learn. Attending university in Canada's cultural, economic, and business centre will play an important role in your program opportunities. The Greater Toronto Area provides access to a wide range of corporate, government, and social service agencies for research assignments and workplace experiences. Toronto also offers a huge variety of cultural and social activities to take part in. After a long day of study, there are so many things to do and see, from films and festivals to sporting events and nightlife.

Living On or Off-Campus

A Home to Call Your Own

One of the first decisions you will need to make is where you plan to live while you attend university. Whether you plan to live on campus or somewhere nearby, taking part in orientation and mentoring programs will help you connect to your new home away from home.

Living at Home

The majority of University of Guelph-Humber students commute from home, joining us from locations throughout the Greater Toronto Area. Saving money and limiting debt are among the main reasons students choose this option. If you are planning to live at home, be assured that our small, close knit community provides you with a range of opportunities to get involved and meet new people.

Living in Residence

Residence allows for convenient access to campus facilities and provides a unique opportunity to live and learn from people with diverse backgrounds and experiences. Residence Assistants (RAs) live on each floor and provide support and advice as you transition through your first year at the university.

Living Off-Campus

If you are looking for accommodations near to campus, there are a wide variety of options to choose from. Rooms, houses, and apartments are available for rent within a few blocks of campus. The Off-Campus Housing Coordinator and off-campus housing website can help locate the type of housing best suited to your needs. These resources and our on-line message board can help you find a roommate and provide you with helpful hints to ease the transition to your new place.

Take Part In Our Community

Some of Life's Most Valuable Lessons are Learned Outside of the Classroom

Transition

The University of Guelph-Humber is committed to helping you make a successful transition to university and offers the following programs and activities to connect you to the campus community...and they all take place before your first class!

Pre-Orientation Program (POP)

Current students at the University of Guelph-Humber serve as POP leaders. They are available to answer any questions you may have throughout the application process and provide a great resource of information.

On-line Community

Once you apply to the University of Guelph-Humber, you will be invited to take part in our on-line community. Chat with current students, staff, and applicants on our message board and discuss pop culture, current events, and life at the University of Guelph-Humber.

Kick Start

Kick Start is a one-day summer orientation program designed to facilitate the transition to university by giving you the opportunity to get information, form new friendships, and explore your new environment.

Student Transition and Mentoring Program (STAMP)

The Student Transition and Mentoring Program will assist you in your transition to and through your first year. STAMP groups are made up of first-year students and a STAMP leader.

Orientation

Orientation occurs in early September and is your official introduction and welcome to the University of Guelph-Humber. During orientation, you will meet your STAMP leader, participate in exciting activities, and take part in sessions designed to help you become more familiar with the campus.

Student Government

The Guelph-Humber Students' Association (GHSA) and Humber Students' Federation (HSF) members are elected by students to represent your needs and interests as a University of Guelph-Humber student. Both organizations plan activities to add excitement to campus life. Barbecues, live concerts, celebrity speakers, comedy nights, and off-campus excursions are just some of the events that the student governments have in store for you. Get involved by representing your program or running for a position on the GHSA or HSF executive.

At the University of Guelph-Humber there are over 61 clubs and 44 teams to join or support.

Clubs

A healthy body and a healthy mind go together! Become or stay physically active by getting involved in athletics. As a University of Guelph-Humber student, you have access to the newly renovated Athletics Centre on campus.

Facilities Include:

- Gymnasium
- Squash Court
- Weight and Cardio Fitness Centre

- Aerobics Studio
- Swimming Pool
- Multi-Purpose Sports Fields

Intramural Teams and Campus Recreation

If you enjoy sports, there are leagues available at a recreational level in floor hockey, ice hockey, volleyball, basketball, squash, table tennis, and indoor soccer. In addition, weekly University of Guelph-Humber Gym Nights are another way for students to participate in leagues and pick-up games during the year.

Varsity Sports

If you are interested in playing on a varsity team and competing against other colleges or universities in the province and throughout the country, you have the opportunity to try-out for varsity teams at either the University of Guelph or Humber. Varsity try-outs occur throughout the summer and academic year, so it is best to contact the team in which you are interested as soon as possible. Support

Helping You Achieve Your Best

Academic and personal support is provided to help you thrive and achieve your best. As a University of Guelph-Humber student, you will have access to many resources that will support your academic endeavours.

Learning Spaces and Resources

Learning Commons

The Learning Commons is an informal student-centered learning environment. Here, you will find computer work stations and space for group meetings and individual study. Staff in the Learning Commons are available to help you research materials for assignments and will assist you with software and technology questions.

Library

In addition to the resources available in our five-storey campus library, as a student at the University of Guelph-Humber you will have access to the TriUniversity Group of Libraries. The University of Guelph, University of Waterloo, and Wilfrid Laurier University have more than 4.3 million items, which are available to you for study purposes and research projects.

Math Centre and Writing Centre

The Math Centre offers assistance in calculus and statistics, while the Writing Centre provides support with essay writing and thesis development. Located next to the Learning Commons, these centres are available for personalized instruction on a drop-in basis.

Media Centre

As a University of Guelph-Humber student, you will be able to borrow audio-visual equipment such as data projectors, digital cameras, digital camcorders, and laptops for class projects and presentations.

Guidance and Support Services

Admission Advising

Our Admissions Coordinator is available to assist you in the application and admission process, and is a great point of contact for all your admission questions. The Admissions Coordinator can provide you with advice and resources in order to successfully complete the application process.

Program Advising

You will have a Program Advisor to guide you through your academic endeavours. Your Program Advisor is the first person to contact when you need any type of support. They will assist you with course selection, developing and reviewing your educational and career plan, interpreting degree regulations, and referring you to on-campus resources.

Learning Support Peers

Learning Support Peers (LSPs) are current students at the University of Guelph-Humber; they will assist and support you as you make important decisions that relate to your academic career. LSPs provide support in regards to course selection and provide direction in the area of academic and personal support services and resources. LSPs are also responsible for assisting in the delivery of Learning Skills Workshops, Career Service information sessions, and a variety of other learning support workshops.

The Counselling and Student Development Centre

The Counselling and Student Development Centre provides you with support services which include:

- Personal Counselling
Professional counselling is provided free of charge in a private, confidential setting. Counsellors will assist you in identifying and resolving your personal problems and concerns.
- Peer Tutoring
Peer Tutors are available to provide one-on-one academic assistance if you experience any difficulties with a specific course.

Services for Students with Disabilities

Services for Students with Disabilities (SSD) is dedicated to meeting the needs of students with learning, physical or medical disabilities. We encourage you to contact SSD before arriving on campus. Early self-identification will help SSD provide the best possible service, including note-takers and sign language interpreters, audio-taped text books and special accommodations for tests. SSD can be reached at: 416.798.1331 ext. 4151 or 4697.

Health Services

As a full-time University of Guelph-Humber student, you are automatically covered for accident, sickness, and dental insurance through the Humber Students' Federation's health plan. Experienced nurses are on duty in the Health Centre and physicians are available by appointment from Monday to Friday.

Interfaith Chaplaincy Services

An interfaith chaplain is available to assist in the spiritual needs of people of all faiths. An interfaith prayer room is also available for individual or group prayer.

International Students

The International Student Services Office helps international students make a smooth transition to the University of Guelph-Humber. They assist in matters such as purchasing medical insurance, finding housing, and connecting you with senior students at the University of Guelph-Humber.

Safety and Security

To ensure the continued safety of students attending the University of Guelph-Humber, security staff patrol the campus 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Humber Campus Watch provides a safety escort program; emergency telephones and cameras are located throughout the campus. The Humber Emergency Auto Response Team (HEART) is available to assist students who experience car trouble.

Child Care

Humber's Child Care Centre is designed to accommodate the child care needs of students, staff, and community members on a full-time basis. Applications should be made early. To apply, contact 416.798.1331 ext. 4484.

Career and Alumni Services

Providing Support and Resources for Professional Development

The University of Guelph-Humber's Career Services will assist you in your transition through university and beyond. The centre offers computers for job searches and résumé development, meeting rooms for on-campus interviews, work space for career-related projects, and staff who can assist you with your research.

As a University of Guelph-Humber student you will have access to the Career Services website where you will be able to:

- Search through full-time, professional opportunities, as well as part-time and summer job postings.
- Post your résumé and profile for employers to access.
- Register for workshops and seminars.
- Have your résumé critiqued by a member of the Career Services staff.

Connecting with Industry

Career Services is committed to creating and maintaining relationships between our students and employers in the community. As a University of Guelph-Humber student, you will be able to attend program specific career fairs and networking events on campus to obtain industry insight, as well as to make personal connections with potential employers.

Some employers who have participated in our career events:

- Ernst and Young
- Rogers Television
- Black Cat Communications
- Trillium Health Centre
- Toronto Fire Services
- Ministry of Children and Youth Services

"With the knowledge I have gained from the University of Guelph-Humber, I will be starting Teacher's College and I hope to continue being a support for at-risk youth in my community."

Nasreene Corpuz, Family and Community Social Services Graduate 2007, Senior Associate Youth Worker

"I was hired by Peel Regional Police immediately after completing the Justice Studies Program. The University of Guelph-Humber provided me with the knowledge and skills to successfully pursue a career in law enforcement." Mike Nielsen, Justice Studies Graduate 2007, Police Cadet

"The program at the University of Guelph-Humber offered me the chance to experience many different childhood educational settings and to decide for myself which areas were of particular interest. Now, I am working as a Resource Teacher helping integrate children with special needs into childcare settings and helping prepare them for school and their futures." Melissa Tolfree, Early Childhood Graduate 2006, Resource Teacher at Community Living Mississauga Preschool Services

Alumni Services

Our graduates continue to be an important part of the University of Guelph-Humber community. As an alumnus of the University of Guelph and Humber, you will have access to a variety of programs and services intended to keep you informed, involved, and engaged. Alumni serve as mentors to current students, connect with former classmates on the University of Guelph-Humber On-line Community, and receive e-mail, student, and alumni publications. Alumni can also participate in a class project, created as part of graduation to help raise funds for future student scholarships and awards. In addition, alumni receive continuing education and bookstore discounts, as well as reduced fees for athletic membership, and much more.

Our Graduates

In June 2007, the University of Guelph-Humber celebrated its second convocation ceremonies with graduates from the Business, Computing, Early Childhood, Family and Community Social Services, Justice Studies and Media Studies programs. Our graduates have transitioned into the working world and found successful positions with such organizations as: CHUM, Scotia Bank, Peel Police, Petro Canada, St. Stephen's House, Rogers Television, and the Region of Peel. Some of our graduates have taken their careers international, and secured employment in Australia and Dubai. In addition, many of our graduates have decided to continue with their education, and are pursuing graduate studies in fields such as law, social work and education.

"During my internship at Nextfilm Productions, I worked on a full-length documentary re-creation called Jonestown: Paradise Lost. Since then I have worked for the same company on the documentary series Mayday for the Discovery Channel and National Geographic, as well as on a short film for Bravo." Matt Henderson, Media Studies Graduate 2006, Associate Production Coordinator

Faculty

Research, Experience, and Industry Links

"The faculty encourage us to go beyond the classroom and meet with industry professionals. They provide contacts from the field and promote hands-on assignments that will help us in the future." Noreen Gomes, Fourth Year Business Student

You will be taught by experienced faculty from both the University of Guelph and Humber. Our faculty include those who have broken new ground in their research and those who are connected with industry partners and professionals outside the classroom. Many of our faculty continue to work in their chosen industry or pursue academic research while they teach. Our faculty have received prestigious accolades, including: doctoral fellowships, the Government of Canada medal, the Gemini award, and the 3M Teaching Award.

Faculty at the University of Guelph-Humber are passionate and dedicated to the foundation and philosophy of this innovative and unique learning environment. They are known for valuing student-centred learning and for incorporating both theory and practice in the classroom.

"The small University of Guelph-Humber population has allowed me to get to know my professors on a more personal level. Some of the faculty members I have met over the years are more than just educators to me; they are mentors and friends supporting me through my life journey, encouraging me to be the best I can be." Lindsay Hamilton, Fourth Year Early Childhood Student

Program Heads:

Each of the programs at the University of Guelph-Humber is led by a Program Head, who is also a current faculty member.

Your Program Head will:

- Play a leadership role on behalf of your program;
- Ensure your program is current and relevant;
- Spearhead curriculum development and program changes;
- Mentor and support the faculty members;
- Facilitate the appointment of faculty members;
- Interact with, mentor and support you and your fellow classmates;
- Liaise with and be involved in professional associations and organizations related to the program.

Admission Averages

Students with admission averages at or above 75% will be considered for admission to the University of Guelph-Humber. Applicants with admission averages of 70% – 74.9% must submit a Student Profile to be considered for admission.

Student Profile

We encourage all students to complete a Student Profile. The Student Profile or Mature and Transfer Student Profile will provide you with an opportunity to tell the Admissions Committee about activities you have been involved in that have contributed to your personal development, such as work experience, volunteer opportunities, and community involvement. Factors beyond your control that may have negatively affected your academic performance, such as illness or personal issues, will also be considered. The Student Profile and Mature and Transfer Student Profile will be considered carefully when making admission decisions and is the basis for consideration for the Student Profile Scholarship (see page 14). The profiles should be completed electronically and are available on-line in November.

"The University of Guelph-Humber seeks students that demonstrate both a willingness to learn and a desire to succeed in their academic and extracurricular pursuits."

Business

Honours Bachelor of Business Administration

Diploma in Business Administration

“The Business program at the University of Guelph-Humber was exactly what I was looking for. Understanding the theories behind business practices while also learning hands-on skills gave me an advantage when I graduated.” Pamela Demesa

The Curriculum

In years one and two of the Business program, you will build a solid foundation of business knowledge.

Core Courses

- Business Information Systems
- Accounting
- Marketing
- Business Law
- Ethics and Values in Business
- Organizational Behaviour

In years three and four, you may choose to focus your studies in one area of emphasis or select courses from a variety of areas to develop a diverse skill set.

Areas of Emphasis

International Business

Studies in this area focus on conducting business within the global economy and include courses in International Trade, International Law, and the business practices of Asia Pacific, Europe, and Latin America.

Finance

This area of emphasis will provide you with an understanding of money-management practices. You will take courses such as Investment Finance, Personal Financial Planning, and Portfolio Management. After completing specific finance courses, you will be eligible to sit for the Canadian Securities Institute licensing examination.

Accounting

The courses in accounting will allow you to gain a deeper understanding of accounting practices and the various practical skills required in the field. You will take accounting courses that include Managerial Accounting, Taxation, and Auditing. The Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario (ICAO) recognizes the University of Guelph-Humber’s accounting courses as having the 51 credit hours required for CA candidacy.

Marketing

You will apply your knowledge of the business world to explore how product, price, promotion, and distribution frameworks are used to satisfy consumer needs and achieve organizational objectives. Courses include Professional Selling, E-Commerce, and an applied Marketing Research Project.

Management of Not-for-Profit Enterprises

In this area of emphasis, you will learn how to manage charitable organizations and other not-for-profit enterprises. In addition to your courses in fundraising and community and government relations, you will have the opportunity to run the Art Gallery on campus – selecting artists and promoting their work in your Event Management course.

Small Business Management and Entrepreneurship

You will explore crucial strategies for initiating and maintaining a successful small business in today’s marketplace. You will take a range of courses including Business Consulting, Event Management, and Planning a Small Business.

Workplace Experience

In your fourth year, you will complete the Applied Business Project – a course requiring 100 hours of study in a workplace environment. You will use the knowledge and skills acquired in your previous years to evaluate the employment element and business theories of a particular workplace environment through a series of unique projects.

Early Childhood

Honours Bachelor of Applied Science in Early Childhood | Diploma in Early Childhood Education

The Curriculum

The curriculum focuses on the physical, social, emotional, and cognitive development of young children within the context of the family and community including family relations, policy, curriculum, research methods, nutrition, leadership, communication, program development, observational methods, and physiology.

In addition to core courses in Psychology, Sociology, and English, your initial courses include:

- Creating Nurturing and Safe Environments for Young Children
- Infant Development
- Early and Middle Childhood Development
- Child and Family Nutrition
- Parent-Child Relations

Workplace Experience

You will complete a minimum of 500 hours of field work by progressing through a series of five practicum placements during your four academic years. Each new placement will build on the knowledge and skills developed in the previous placement. You will gain direct experience in all fields of early childhood services including schools, child care programs, early intervention programs, and family resource centres.

Placement 1

Your first field placement is a job shadowing experience that highlights various careers in the field of early childhood.

Placements 2-4

Your next three field placements will enable you to experience programs for young children and their families in a variety of agencies and organizations and across different developmental stages.

Placement 5

For your final field placement, which spans the entire academic year, you will be encouraged to select a setting or program that meets your particular career goals.

Throughout your placements, you will participate in weekly seminars with your professor and classmates to critically analyze your experiences, and develop the skills required for professional work. Employers and agencies offering student placement opportunities require a police record check before accepting a student for placement, as well as documentation of immunization, and a First Aid/CPR certificate. These requirements should be obtained prior to your first field placement as failure to meet the requirements will prevent students from completing the placement and/or securing employment.

Faculty Profile: Gabrielle Pitt

Gabrielle Pitt holds a Diploma in Early Childhood Education, an Honours Bachelor of Science degree in Psychology and Exceptionality in Human Learning, and a Master's Degree in Social Work (Child and Family). Leo was a founding member of the Advocacy Resource Centre for the Handicapped (ARCH), and served in a number of executive board positions including the Chair of Fundraising and eventually was the Chair of ARCH for 5 years. Leo's current research interests include community development, and poverty reduction strategies.

Faculty Profile: Cynthia Clarke

Cynthia Clarke received a Master's degree in Social Work and serves as the Field Placement Coordinator for the Family and Community Social Services program. Her areas of practice include corrections, child protection, and child advocacy, while her teaching and research focuses on the sexual and physical abuse of children, domestic violence, and separation and divorce issues.

"Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world; indeed, it's the only thing that ever does." Margaret Mead

The Curriculum

Our program integrates a theoretical foundation in psychology and sociology, human development, family dynamics and social policy with clinical competency in counselling, community research techniques, mediation, agency administration, fundraising, case management, and community development strategies.

In addition to core courses in Psychology and Sociology, classes in your first two years include:

- Social Work in Canada
- The Political Process and Social Work
- Couple and Family Dynamics
- Interpersonal Communication Skills
- Counselling
- Early and Middle Childhood Development

Workplace Experience

In the Family and Community Social Services program, you will complete three practicum placements. Your placements will be arranged in consultation with University of Guelph-Humber faculty and will come from a broad range of agencies to foster the development of transferable skills that you can adapt to any community or organization. In each placement, you will take part in the day-to-day operations of a social services agency. You will be considered professionals-in-training, and performance expectations will increase according to your semester level. The first placement in your second year is a semester long while the placements in your third and fourth year span the entire academic year.

Employers and agencies offering student placement opportunities may require a police record check before accepting a student for field placement. Failure to meet the requirements for field placement will prevent students from completing the program and/or securing employment.

"This program provides the right combination of theory and practical work for succeeding in the social services field. Being in Toronto gives me access to a variety of workplace experiences in all facets of social work."
Cassandra Berg

In the Justice Studies program, you will gain practical experience in a variety of segments within Ontario's justice system and develop strategies for working with high-risk individuals in private, public, community, and institutional settings. You will study deviant behaviour, crime scene investigation, criminal and civil law, ethics, and research methods – areas which will prepare you to become a criminal justice systems practitioner.

The academic rigor of our program ensures you will be well positioned to enter law school or graduate studies in a variety of interdisciplinary programs from sociology to criminal justice.

Justice Studies

Honours Bachelor of Applied Science in Justice Studies | Diploma in Police Foundations or Law and Security Administration

The Curriculum

In the first year of the program, you will take core courses that provide a firm foundation in the justice field. Courses include Crime and Criminal Justice, Introduction to Law, Principles of Sociology, and Police Powers. In your second year, you will have the opportunity to specialize in one of the following areas:

Police Foundations

In Police Foundations, you will take courses that prepare you for employment in the various levels of Canadian policing including municipal (e.g. Toronto Police Service), provincial (e.g. Ontario Provincial Police), and federal (e.g. Royal Canadian Mounted Police) police services. Some of your courses include Community Policing, Police Governance and Accountability, Investigative Techniques, and Physical Fitness.

Law and Security Administration

This area of study provides you with a balanced breadth of learning in core areas of justice studies along with an emphasis in the functional areas of corrections, customs and immigration, and private policing. Courses include Perspectives on Immigration, Customs Practice, Correctional Institutions, and Community Corrections and Private Policing.

The diploma you receive at graduation will reflect the specialization you complete.

Unique Projects

Moot Court

In your first year, students will re-enact a criminal case tried in Canada. You will review the evidence, prepare the case, and deliver it before a practicing lawyer presiding as a judge.

Crime Scene Investigation

In both your second and third year you will utilize forensic techniques to investigate a crime scene that was re-created by senior students. You and your peers will work together to construct and deconstruct the crime scenes of famous Canadian criminal cases.

Streetwalk

In your third year Social Problems course, you will take part in a streetwalk to observe social problems, such as poverty and homelessness, in downtown Toronto. You will follow up with a discussion on policing techniques and social factors that affect the areas you observe.

Workplace Experience

In your second and third year in the program, you will complete community service placements to develop your sensitivity to contemporary social issues ranging from abuse and violence to welfare. Throughout your placements, you will participate in weekly seminars to critically analyze your volunteer experiences.

Students in the program are currently volunteering as auxiliary police officers, as probation and parole officers, with rape crisis centres, with Crime Stoppers, and with other not-for-profit and government agencies in the justice field.

Employers and agencies offering student placement opportunities may require a police record check before accepting a student for field placement. Failure to meet the requirements for field placement will prevent students from completing the program and/or securing employment.

Kinesiology

Honours Bachelor of Applied Science in Kinesiology | Diploma in Fitness and Health Promotion

The Curriculum

The curriculum provides a strong scientific background in the biological, biochemical, physical, and mathematical sciences. Some of the core areas of study are anatomy, physiology, biochemistry, nutrition, fitness and lifestyle assessment, exercise prescription, biophysics, biomechanics and motor learning, as well as health counselling and health promotion. Your coursework can prepare you for a future career in occupational therapy or physiotherapy, chiropractics, sports medicine, health promotion, or in a business or education setting – but the options do not end there.

Your first and second year courses include:

- Cell Biology
- Human Anatomy
- Health Counselling and Behaviour Change
- Fitness/Lifestyle Assessment
- Exercise Prescription
- Fundamentals of Nutrition

Workplace Experience

In your third and fourth years, you will complete two industry internships which will provide you with valuable real-life experience and networking opportunities to prepare you for a career in the health or fitness industry. Your placements will come from a broad range of fitness and rehabilitation facilities that will foster the development of transferable skills. Throughout your placements, you will participate in weekly seminars with your professor and classmates to critically analyze your experiences and develop the skills required for professional work.

Industry Certification

The program will provide you with the knowledge and skills to pursue further credentials in the industry, such as:

- Certified Personal Trainer (CPT) offered through the Canadian Society for Exercise Physiology
- Certified Exercise Physiologist (CEP) offered through the Canadian Society for Exercise Physiology
- Fitness Instructors Specialist (FIS) offered through the Canadian Fitness Professionals

Faculty Profile: Dr. Elaine Popp

Dr. Elaine Popp, the Kinesiology Program Head at the University of Guelph-Humber, received her Ph.D. from York University, studying the process of mitochondrial formation in the heart muscle. Elaine is also the Associate Dean for Humber's School of Hospitality, Recreation and Tourism, as well as an instructor in the program. Elaine was a recipient of the Humber Distinguished Faculty Award. She has played an instrumental role in the development of the University of Guelph-Humber Kinesiology program and curricula design. Prior to beginning her academic roles with the University of Guelph-Humber and Humber, Elaine enjoyed success in the fitness and health industry as the owner of her own personal training company. She is also a member of The Canadian Society for Exercise Physiology.

Understanding why people do the things they do is a goal that has been at the core of the science of psychology for at least the last 125 years. As access to intellectual resources increases for the general public, there is an increasing demand for knowledge-based individuals who understand the foundations of human thought and behaviour. In the Psychology program you will examine theories and research based on the biological and social models of human behaviour and cognition. You will explore how individuals utilize critical thinking skills, and how awareness of psychological development and practices can improve those skills to increase individual success and overcome personal challenges.

This program will prepare you to enter the workforce with the depth of understanding and practical experience employers are looking for in the field of psychology. The program will also position you with the research background and expertise required for graduate studies in psychology and other related fields. You may also choose to pursue Faculties of Education (Teachers' College) upon completion of this program.

Psychology

Honours Bachelor of Applied Science in Psychology | General Arts and Science Diploma

The Curriculum

You will learn the relationship between emotions, intelligence, and human development while studying electives that challenge you to apply your understanding of human psychology. In addition to your studies and research in the areas of social and individual psychology, you will participate in exercises that uncover patterns and disparities in human response and reactions - work that will prepare you for various fields such as sales, advertising, personnel management, psychological testing, vocational guidance, teaching, social service, and research.

The curriculum focuses on various areas of psychology, including behavioural, cognitive, and social psychology. Students will explore the individual thought process as it relates to human development, mental disorders, and various external factors present in today's world. Over your four years of study in the program you will complete courses required for graduate studies, including research methods and statistics. You will also complete a number of psychology courses that cover a wide range of topics including persuasion, critical thinking, and addiction.

The curriculum provides you the flexibility to enrol in courses from various programs and electives at the University of Guelph-Humber, giving you the opportunity to combine your psychology studies with other areas of interest.

Your first and second year courses include:

- Psychology Dynamics
- Learning and Cognition
- Personality
- The Science of Everyday Life
- Modern and Contemporary Philosophy
- Neuroscience

Workplace Experience

In the Psychology program you will complete an applied psychology project that allows you to take the knowledge you have acquired in the program and apply it to a particular area of interest. Students may choose to work in business and explore organizational behaviour; in a counselling setting and examine behaviour and social psychology; or explore criminal psychology in various settings in the justice system. The possibilities are endless and allow you to tailor your education to create an area of interest for graduate work or future employment.

Faculty Profile: Rena Borovilos

Rena Borovilos, Psychology Program Head and instructor at the University of Guelph-Humber, began her teaching career more than twenty five years ago at York University where she earned a Master's degree in social psychology. Rena has taught a number of psychology courses at both the college and university level. She is an active member of the Humber Community through her work as faculty and student mentor, Research Ethics Board member, Academic Council member, and General Education Awards Committee chair. Rena played an important role in developing and delivering psychology courses for the University of New Brunswick/Humber College Collaborative Bachelor of Nursing Program and was instrumental in developing and launching Humber's first high school/college dual credit course in an academic area, a social psychology course.

Faculty Profile: Dr. Thomas Herrmann

Thomas Herrmann's research training and expertise lies in the general area of behavioural neuroscience. His publications focus on the brain mechanisms that govern learning of spatial information. Recently, Professor Herrmann has pursued various applied interests including the fostering of leadership in volunteer organizations, and the promotion of principles of sport psychology to the training of officiating personnel in amateur sports. A founding contributor to the Psychology program at the University of Guelph-Humber, he has been instrumental in the development of the core curriculum. Thomas will teach the introductory Psychology courses, as well as teach advanced courses in neuropsychology and addiction. Thomas has a deep commitment to the integration of theory and application - a fundamental element of the University of Guelph-Humber's Psychology program.

Research indicates that while practical skills and experience are a requirement for entry-level positions in media professions, today's employers also demand the skills typically acquired at a university, such as critical thinking, research, and analysis. The Media Studies program at the University of Guelph-Humber integrates both types of education. You will receive professional, applied training along with a theoretical foundation that includes an examination of the nature and role of the media in society.

In just four years, you will graduate with an honours degree, a diploma, and the skills most desired by employers. You will have an advantage in an intensely competitive industry.

Toronto has four daily newspapers, thousands of magazines and an ever-expanding number of channels available on radio and television; possibilities continue to grow in on-line media, streaming video, and webcasting. Innumerable opportunities exist at public relations agencies and firms, fundraising and special events organizations, and in the public relations departments of large corporations. Likewise, Toronto is the centre for commercial and fine art photography in Canada and is a focus for both public and private activity in photographic imaging and photography festivals.

Media Studies

Honours Bachelor of Applied Art in Media Studies | Diploma in Journalism, Public Relations, or Creative Photography

“The Media Studies program has taught me a lot about all the different aspects of the media industry. I get great experience through the projects and hands-on work.” Gemmarie Ho

Curriculum

The Media Studies program at the University of Guelph-Humber will teach you about the world of media and will allow you to develop specialized skills in Journalism, Public Relations, or Image Arts starting in your first year. In addition to your specialized courses, you will also take courses such as Mass Communication, Film Study, and Ethical Issues in the Media to gain a better understanding of the fundamental elements surrounding the media industry in today’s fast-paced economy.

Journalism

In Journalism, you will learn to report on local and world events for various types of media. You will receive training in writing for newspapers, magazines, and the Internet; you will also gain experience in radio and television broadcasting. You will have access to a state-of-the-art broadcast studio and will produce a newspaper and newscast as part of the program.

Public Relations

The Public Relations stream will teach you to become adept at using the media to communicate for business, government, and other organizations. You will learn to write and produce timely and accurate information through courses such as Media Relations, Event Management, and Writing for Public Relations. You will take part in off-campus ventures for real-world experience in fundraising and event management.

Image Arts

As a student in the Image Arts stream, you will learn all aspects of digital and print photography leading to a diploma in Creative Photography. You will study the world of media with a particular focus on visual communication, photographic techniques, and photo-based art practices. An innovative photography lab is available for projects and experiential learning.

Workplace Experience

In your fourth year, you will take the skills you developed in the previous years and complete an eight-week internship designed to put you in contact with employers in your field of interest. You will learn alongside some of the most important players in the industry.

Program Orientation

As part of the admission process to the Media Studies program at the University of Guelph-Humber, applicants are expected to complete the Program Orientation. The Program Orientation, held on February 9-10, will allow students to tour our state-of-the-art facilities, meet one-on-one with faculty members, gain a deeper understanding of the program, and present a portfolio of related work for review and discussion. The Program Orientation consists of the following*:

Interview and Portfolio and Résumé Review

You will have the opportunity to meet one-on-one with a Media Studies faculty member, who will also review your portfolio and résumé.

The portfolio and résumé review is where you will present your work to a faculty member, display your interest in Media Studies, and discover how the program fits in with your goals. While Media Studies students will choose their area of specialization at the end of the first year, if you are interested in Journalism or Public Relations, your portfolio should consist of two pieces of non-fiction writing. The pieces can be articles or reports; each piece should not exceed one page in length. If you are considering specializing in photography through the Image Arts stream, your portfolio should consist of five photographic images. Résumés can include work, volunteer, and extracurricular experiences.

A Writing Exercise

The writing exercise will involve writing a short response to an assigned topic. You will have an hour to complete the exercise, which will assess your writing, grammar, and sentence structure.

*While transfer students in good academic standing from related programs (Journalism, Public Relations, Image Arts, Communications) are not required to complete the program orientation, all transfer students are strongly encouraged to attend.

Faculty Profile: Ed Wright

Before joining the University of Guelph-Humber as Program Head of the Media Studies program, Ed Wright co-ordinated the undergraduate and postgraduate Public Relations programs at Humber for six years. Prior to joining Humber, he had an extensive career in corporate communications, journalism and sales management. Ed has completed the accreditation requirements of the Canadian Public Relations Society (CPRS) and currently serves as a volunteer examiner for CPRS. He is an honours graduate of the University of Western Ontario and also completed the postgraduate Journalism diploma program at the University of Western Ontario.

Faculty Profile: Dr. Mark Lipton

Dr. Mark Lipton is an Assistant Professor in the School of English and Theatre Studies at the University of Guelph and faculty member for Media Studies at the University of Guelph-Humber. He received his MA and Ph.D in Media Ecology from New York University, studying how change in the media affect media environments and exploring the relationship between media and culture. With the help of a colleague he developed the Children’s Media Project, a not-for-profit arts and education organization that focuses on media and technology. Work with that project led him to explore and develop anti-smoking curriculum and the role of media and advertising ultimately creating a workbook and a textbook on the topic that is now used in classrooms throughout the United States. In the last five years Dr. Lipton’s awards include Children’s Health Initiative, Ford Foundation Scholar’s Program, Vassar Faculty Research Grant, and Mellon Foundation.

In the News

Progress, Achievement, and Initiative

The University of Guelph-Humber student body is making headlines, and reaching milestones. Our students are achieving greatness and being recognized for their perseverance, innovation, and experience through awards and accolades. In addition, the University of Guelph-Humber is launching new programs to enhance the student experience and to further strengthen our place in the local and global community. With the new Student Exchange and Study Abroad opportunities, as well as the Executive-in-Residence and Visiting Professor Programs, the possibilities are endless in learning extending beyond the classroom.

New Developments

Student Exchange and Study Abroad

In 2007, the student exchange agreement between the University of Guelph and the Management Centre Innsbruck (MCI), Austria, will be extended to include University of Guelph-Humber students. This will provide you the opportunity to acquire international experience while completing the academic requirements for your program of study.

Executive-in-Residence

University of Guelph-Humber's Executive in Residence program will launch this year. Each semester a senior executive from either the public or private sector will meet with students, faculty, and alumni, give a series of guest presentations, and hold a public lecture open to the university community. As a University of Guelph-Humber student, you will have the opportunity to interact with these executives, ask questions, and learn about the leadership and management challenges that they face, and their strategies for addressing real-world issues.

Visiting Professor Program

In 2008, applications will be accepted for a Visiting Professor program, allowing recognized Canadian and international scholars the opportunity to share their knowledge and expertise with University of Guelph-Humber students.

An Example of Notable Achievements
